Look How We've Changed.

Bright Lockers. The summer following the class of 1981's freshman year, the Fairfax County Building Maintenance Staff worked diligently to provide Falls Church with bright yellow lockers.

Something Old.

High school is full of changes. Some are so small and insignificant you hardly notice them. Others, however, stand out in your mind and make a lasting impression. People come and go all the time. Each Spring when the Senior class leaves, we lose some old familiar faces. Yet, as the new Freshman class arrives in the fall, we are greeted with countless new faces. And with these changes we see changes in the student body as a whole. For example, we lose or gain classes that are more spirited than others. In taking a closer look at the class of 1981, we see some faces that have been with us for four years. And we fondly remember friends who started with us our Freshman year, but will graduate elsewhere. We see new people joining us that have not been with us all four years. Along with these we also witness drastic changes in faculty and administration. We lose some old favorites, and we sometimes gain new favorites. It seems that the appearance of Falls Church is constantly changing also. Upperclassmen will recall such things as the dingy, grey lockers that turned bright yellow over the summer, and the addition of the words HOME OF THE JAGUARS to the front wall of the school. And just recently, there has been construction starting all around our school. It seems that Falls Church is engulfed in change.

Falls Church Changes for the Better

The Career Center (left) changed locations this year in order to make it more accessible and to enable it to accommodate more students at one time.

Over the past year we have seen many changes that have improved the atmosphere of Falls Church.

Some changes have been visible. Over this past summer, Falls Church acquired two portable classrooms to house Mrs. Bruns' LD students. The classrooms are situated between the cafeteria and the gymnasium. Also over the summer, football players and others concerned about the poor condition of Weber Stadium got together and worked on applying new sod to the playing surface, and repainting the stands and the press box. This gave the stadium a general facelift to prepare for spectators (including home fans and visitors), players, and band members who had to march on the field.

Everyone Has The "Spirit."

As we look back on this past year we are reminded of the many occurrences that have made 1980-81 special. One of the things that readily comes to mind is SPIRIT. This spirit was first seen on a September evening when a certain football team beat another football team 49-0 in a season opener.

Since then we have seen changes in school spirit. First came the addition of the Spirit Stick. During a Friday pep rally, the mascot would wave the spirit stick in front of each class. The class who cheered the loudest won the spirit stick for that day. There also was the addition of a painted section in the football stadium bleachers, reserved for Seniors and others who wanted to join to cheer the Jaguars on to victory. The addition of pep buses to away games also increased the number of students who showed up at the games to cheer.

This past year was one of high energy and pride in Falls Church.

Colorful Game and Parade Begin Homecoming Weekend

The homecoming floats were paraded around the track during half time of the football game against Jefferson. A lot of hard work was put into each of the floats entered in the competition. As usual, the winner in the class competition was the Senior class. Their float was the Lochness Monster and "Nessie says, 'Loch up Jefferson'". Band won the organization's category with Cyclops and "Clopse on Jefferson".

Frosh entered Big Foot saying "Stomp Jefferson". Sophomores "Put the Bite on Jefferson" with Dracula. Although the Junior class float was burned before the parade, they showed their spirit by cheering from a decorated truck. The track team float was the Abominable Snowman. Everyone did an excellent job and made the Homecoming Parade a great success.

The winning float, constructed by the Senior class, was the Loch Ness Monster, stating "Loch up Jefferson."

"Put the Bite on Jefferson," say the Sophomores, with their Dracula float (above).

This year's Homecoming weekend was one of the most memorable for F.C.H.S. The fun started Friday night with the football game. During halftime, all of the floats that everyone had worked on so hard were brought out to be paraded around the field. The theme was "Mythical Monsters", and much imagination was shown in the finished floats. The winner in the class competition was the Senior class with "The Lochness Monster". The winner in the organization contest was the band with "Cyclopse". The evening was made perfect by the Jaguars' victory over Jefferson with a score of 21-10.

Saturday night was reserved for the long-awaited dance. The evening was centered around the theme of "Time in a Bottle" by Jim Croce. It was presided over by Krystyna Walicki, Homecoming Queen, Roxana Ipince, Maid of Honor and the rest of the Homecoming Court. The music was provided by "Oasis," a local band. A great time was had by all, and everyone will remember this weekend forever.

Pride Week Traditions Prevail

Pride week was once again held the week of the Annadale football game. It took place the week of October 20-25, and was a great success. Everyone showed their spirit on Monday, pajama day. Lots of nightgowns, furry slippers and teddybears paraded in the halls. Tuesday was hat day. Baseball caps, cowboy hats, straw hats and other unique caps were seen. Hick day covered the halls with overalls, flannel shirts and straw hats. All types of sweat suits were worn on sweat and jersey day. As the tradition goes, Friday was green and white day.

When students arrived at school Friday morning, the day of the game, the halls were brightly decorated with streamers, posters and other decorations. The annual hall-decorating contest had taken place. Many different organizations expressed their spirit in this way. The halls were judged Friday morning. First in the class competition were the seniors. In the organization contest, the cheerleaders prevailed. Civinettes won second place in the category. The decorations were torn down within the first hour of school, but they demonstrated the high amount of spirit the students of Falls Church have. Although Falls Church did not beat the Atoms in the football game at Annadale that evening, many people showed up to cheer, and the mighty Jaguars put up a good fight.

Transit Plays Important Role

Honk, Honk! "Get out of my way!" "Hey, you can't park there, that's my space. I park there every day."

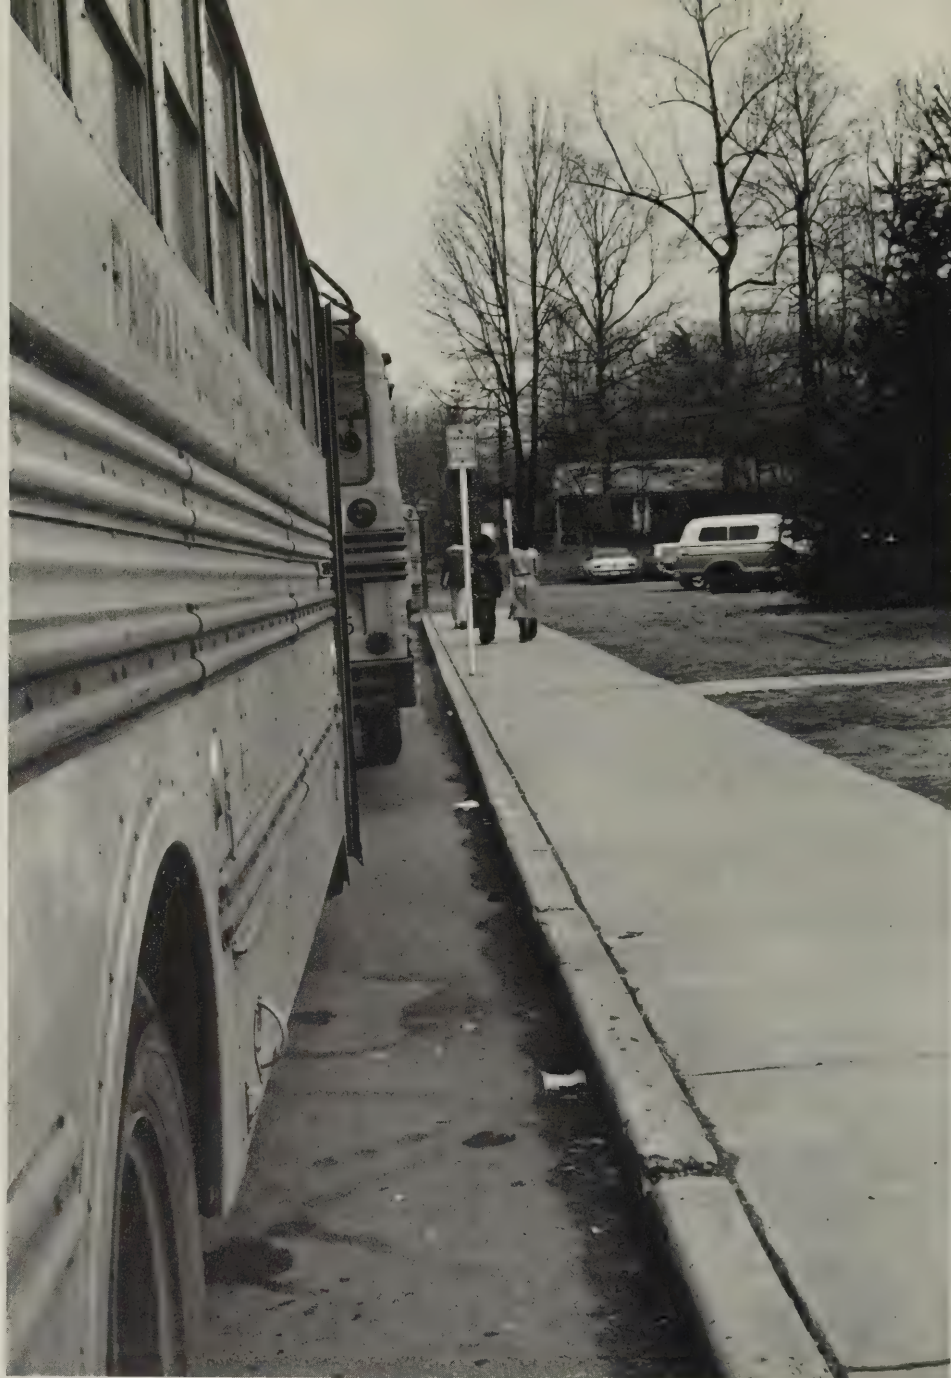

These words can be heard every morning as hundreds of students pull into the student parking lot. A person would never suspect that gas was $1.30 a gallon or that cars were so expensive as so many Falls Church students drive their vehicles to school.

With more students working each year, this has become a more popular occurrence. There are also those students who must have their wheels with them so they may visit the local hamburger joint when the lunch bell sounds. And of course, there are those students who say it's "cool" to drive to school.

Aside from driving cars, new forms of transportation are being found. For those energetic people, trying to fight the gas crunch, bicycles are ridden. Mopeds are also being seen this year. For numerous students, walking is a dependable way of making it to class. For anyone who can not get to school any of these ways, there are always the old-fashioned yellow buses at your service.

Every day at 2:05, students board buses for the ride home (right). For the first time in several years students were required to have school bus passes in order to ride the bus.

Halloween Dress up Day Releases the Devil in Us

Every year, toward the end of October, people get a fierce urge to be mean and cruel, and to play tricks on others. This desire often takes place on Halloween. When the youngsters are out looking for candy, older children are out looking for them.

Children walk down the streets hand in hand, with candy bags over their arms. As they tromp through the gardens and bushes, yells of trick or treat can be heard. The neighborhood housewives always give treats, so it is up to the teenagers to give the tricks.

All kinds of tricks are performed on unknowing little children. Hosing them down with a fire extinguisher is always fun. They may be given rock candy. No one tells them it is plain old rocks. One never knows what may jump out of their bags; better described as the strange things someone else may put in. It is such a shame to see egg yolks running down the face of a perfect vampire. It is almost as bad as the feeling of the pumpkin seeds dripping from the pumpkin the cute ghost just had dumped on his head. The streets become a swamp of eggs, smashed pumpkins and water, just waiting for a victim. No one knows exactly when the next trick will come, or where, or to whom. The suspense is the best part of Halloween. Little kids never know what might happen to them. Big kids never know what funny little trick may pop into their minds. These "cute" little tricks are half the fun of this holiday. After children have had their share of tricks, nothing is left but to munch on the treats. Teenagers always find enjoyment is laughing about their evening as they gobble down all of Mom's leftover goodies.

Doug Stroud takes a deep breath as he holds Brenda Howell. Doug is just one of the many students who participated in dressing up for Halloween.

George Johnson and Rick Flather call for new victims. Students dressed up in all types of costumes to demonstrate their spirit.

Friend or Foe? Krys Walicki ponders this question as Cathy Jackson seems to have come from another planet.

Karen Simpson thinks a woman's place is on the football field. All cheerleaders dressed up as football players for Halloween.

To Get Under the Jaguar Spell Show Your Spirit, Clap 'N Yell

While you are rushing to class you see a gorgeous jock in a three piece suit. "It is definately Friday", you think. Just knowing that puts people in a good mood. Even better is knowing that Friday means sports events Friday night. Friday night, the thing everyone awaits all week. As you enter class, you see cheerleaders in their uniforms all green, white, and gold selling spirit ribbons. "Definitely Friday", you think. But wait, even better. There must be a pep rally. Super! The thought of a pep rally gets to your brain. Your heart starts beating faster. The blood starts rushing. The rowdiness is taking over. Yes, you have felt it before. It is the Spirit Sickness attacking again. Well, this disease has only one cure. It is time to take out the Jag Rag, stick on the spirit ribbons, and GET ROWDIE! As first period drags on, all you can think about are those three piecers and the cheering crowds. Finally, the bell sounds. Time for the pep rally! As you approach the gym, the music blares loudly. That's the Marching Jaguars performing the fabulous fight song. You join your class and take your seat. Time for a competition cheer. Time to show your spirit. You yell out your lungs and little bit more. The mascot walks your way. Your class won! Hooray! You jump to the ceiling to catch the candy being thrown by the cheerleaders. The whole school laughs as you wave your arms wildly. You got one! Wow! The crowd calms down as the football players are announced. As you stare bug-eyed at the jocks, you know why you have been waiting all week for Friday to come around.

Students clap their hands and stomp their feet because the Falls Church wrestlers can't be beat.

Freshmen get in the spirit of things by getting rowdie to the beat of the Falls Church Fight Song.

Juniors jump for the candy thrown by the cheerleaders after yelling the loudest in the competition cheer (right).

Spirit Flames Burn Brightly

In order to raise enthusiasm for the Stuart football game, a bonfire was held. It took place on the practice football field, the night before the game, and was attended by hundreds of people. The cheerleaders organized this activity and led it as well. The flames of spirit reached high in the sky and created a beautiful scene for everyone.

The students surrounded the fire in groups according to class. About one hour was spent cheering and yelling. The cheerleaders began and everyone else followed. Competition cheers were held and candy was thrown to the winners. Then the fire began to burn down, the crowd thinned down too. Some firemen came later and watered down the rest of the fire, until all was dark. Everybody left eventually to find another means of warmth.

The fire burned away, but students' spirit did not. Their cheers filled the sky, along with smoke, and lots of hope for victory.

Students gathered around the fire in an attempt to keep warm. The flames leaped high and made a giant inferno of spirit.

Sadie Hawkins Inspires Spirit In FC Students

Every year a Sadie Hawkins dance is held, and this year was no exception. It took place on the 22nd of November and was a big success. This is the one time of the year when girls have a chance to ask out those cute guys they have had their eyes on.

The usual dress for this dance is a basic pair of blue jean overalls. Plaid flannel shirts, handkerchiefs and straw hats give that authentic hillbilly look. Unless of course one is a Sadie Hawkins character. For the entire week preceding the dance, crazy seniors went around collecting money. On Friday, the chosen seniors dressed up as their best imitations of characters from the Little Abner comic strip. They spent the day square dancing and parading around the halls. This Sadie Hawkins will long be remembered by the seniors and those who attended it.

After emerging from the jungle, Sam Ward participated in the Sadie Hawkins festivities.

Exhausted after all that dancing, Jamie Crutchfield pauses for a moment's rest as Richard Powell looks on in disgust at the sinful merry-making.

You're a Good Man Charlie Brown

This was the first play performed by the Drama Department this year. Practice began in October and continued until the opening night on December 4th. There were two shows, but neither were very well attended. The play was based on the comic strip "Peanuts" by Charles M. Schulz. The cast was quite small for this musical version of Charlie Brown. It was directed by a new teacher rather than Mr. Allen who has been directing Falls Church plays for a number of years.

The play was the story of the life of Charlie Brown. There was no real plot, just short scenes of a typical days events. The play's short little skits were humorous as well as entertaining for those who attended. Freshmen Sam Lewis and Andy Weedon made their stage debut in this play. The Falls Church Orchestra made the music and added a little enjoyment to the performance.

“Move to the Beat!”

Get down, boogie and dance the night away. This is just what was done at the informal dances. What a better way to meet the cute guy that sits in the corner in math class. Or the girl who has the locker next door. These people all show up for the informal dances in the school cafeteria. It is here that “playing the field” is the perfect thing to do. Why not dance with as many people as time provides? There is nothing wrong with “getting around”. These events offer the best chance for students to get to know one another. There is no need to come with a date. Just waltz in with “the guys” or stroll in with “the girls” and check out the prospects for the evening. There is always a cute person lurking in the lobby just waiting to be asked to dance. One never knows, you may be just the person that girl or guy was lurking for.

When one person finally gets up the nerve to ask for a dance, there are always plenty of interesting things to discuss on the dance floor.

People danced all different ways to the different music. Rock music lets the students get rowdie, wild, and really crazy. There is always lots of disco at these dances. And then there are the slow dances. Not so numerous as the others these dances slow up the beat and give the girls a few quiet moments to relax in the arms of their favorite guy. The dances were usually over at 11:00, but the evening did not end there. There were always lots of parties after. Whether that meant going out with a “special friend”, or going to a huge party to celebrate the weekend, the Falls Church parties made the perfect end to a Falls Church informal dance.

Designers Label Their New Fashions

Styles this year have taken a distinct turn. Whether clothes, hairstyles, speech or fads, things have definitely changed. Comfort has become the trend, and designers have taken over. Hairstyles for women have changed tremendously. Long hair is coming back in. The idea of versatile hairdos are popular, and all types of styles are being seen. Even the language has changed. New words have come and the old have left. This is obvious in the schools, just by listening to the things yelled down the halls. All aspects of life have changed this year, as the new fads enter and the old ones disappear.

Clothes are one of the most noticeable differences. As women wear more dresses, more convenient and comfortable styles become popular. Blue jeans still hold their same fascinations in the clothes market as ever, though there is a slight change. The back pockets are never plain. A label with a manufacturer's name can always be found. Designer labels used to be just for the extremely

"All right girls, let's see how far we can throw Margaret Lusick," says Michelle Rankin to Dannie Sessoms, Susie Nedrow, Barbie Tsitos, and Terry Brocato as they model their sweats.

Another popular fad is the French braid. This hair style is easy, and always looks neat. It can be done in a variety of ways to get whatever effect the wearer wants. It can be done quickly, and requires no bother once it is completed. This braid has made its way into fashion this year and is becoming more popular every day as new ideas are braided into the old ones. Ribbons and bows are fastened to the braids to provide a pretty overall effect.

Shoes, socks, belts and other accessories are equally important this year along with the clothes and hairstyles. Lacoste items are covering the stores as little alligators are popping up everywhere. These animals are found on shirts most frequently, and more recently on socks. They match everything, and these alligator items are being snatched up by people everywhere. All of this year's styles will stay for a short while and soon become old. By the time a person has completely filled their closet with these fashions, they will have been replaced by newer, more fashionable styles. It will then be time to say "out with the old, and in with the new."

rich. But not anymore.

Calvin Klein, Sasson, Pierre Cardin, Gloria Vanderbilt, Ann Klein, Sergio Valente, Liz Claiborne, Jordache, Chardon, and Evans Piccone are common names seen around the school. They are the hottest new items this year. These names can be found on most any type of clothing there is.

Whether it is fancy dresses, t-shirts, socks, shoes, sweats, or the most common, blue jeans, the designer label is there. It is worn by the rich, the poor, and the in-between. It is seen on pockets, belts, and any other easily noticed place. These labels are one of the major fads of this year.

It's Easy. Just divide into three sections, divide each section into three sections, braid the first three, take the extra and braid it in!

Vidal Sasson can be found from France to America, from shampoo bottles to t-shirts.

Karol Ponton contemplates a creative, new style for Kerry Tate that is volatile, versatile, and very vogue.

Nikes stampede down the halls of Falls Church as well as the fields outside. The variety of colors includes everything in the rainbow.

Aaron Brown shows that his foot is a perfect "10". It is protected by a LaCoste alligator to ward off enemies. The Nike tennis shoe, with its red stripes, makes everyone aware of his presence "Of course you may not pass through this door without paying me a big tip" states Frank Higgins.

Forget their ridiculous answers, the moment you have awaited has arrived, will it be date number one, date number two, or date number three?

"The Man Who Came to Dinner"

"The Man Who Came to Dinner" is a comedy about an old man named Sheridan Whiteside and the Stanley family. Whiteside comes to the Stanley residence in response to a dinner invitation. Upon arrival, he slips on a piece of ice on the front door steps. After being examined by Dr. Bradley, Whiteside is diagnosed as having a broken hip. Whiteside proceeds to live with the Stanleys, as they are responsible for his terrible accident.

The play goes on to show the daily life of Sheridan and his new family. Although he is not particularly friendly with them, he prolongs his visit. Several weeks later, Bradley informs him he is in perfect health, and is able to retreat from his wheelchair and continue living his former life. Whiteside keeps this information to himself and stays on at the Stanley's. Sheridan's coniving schemes and comical actions made this a hilarious and entertaining performance.

You can have this beautiful box in front of me, or else you may keep what is behind door number 1.

I told you before and I'll tell you again, even for money, you may not roll in my wheelchair!

Just sign on the dotted line and you will be guaranteed fame, fortune and happiness for the rest of your life.

"The tie matches just fine, but I don't think the ice skates will fit the mood of the ball too well".

Robin Lee Connor, 1981 Prom Queen

"Best of Times", by Styx, Picked as Prom Theme

This year's senior prom was held on May 16 at the Quality Inn in Chrystal City. The entertainment was provided by the band "Oz" who set the mood for the dance. The theme of "The Best of Times", by Styx, inspired students to enjoy themselves. The highlight of the evening was the presentation of the court. The members and their dates were introduced to the students and the Prom Queen, Robin Connor was officially crowned. The formal gowns worn by the girls, and the tuxedos and suits worn by the guys made the evening even more beautiful.

Most of the couples attending preceeded the dance by dining in local elegant restaurants, although refreshments were served at the dance. With the smell of corsages and boutineers filling the room, no one could have asked for a more delightful setting. The whole evening was organized by the Junior Class, and the seniors will remember this gift to them for years to come.

The Key Club worked hard to paint the stands and press box in order to change the appearance of Weber Stadium.

The Civinettes also helped improve and change the appearance of the school by painting the posts and paws on Jaguar Trail.

The Yearbook saw several changes. They received two new sponsors, a larger office and many new additions to the staff (below).

ORGANIZATIONS

Organizations Make Changes

Many organizations have seen significant changes this year. For example, the Keyettes saw a change of Presidents midway through the year. There were many new organizations this year also. The formation of the Bicycle club and the re-formation of the Civitans added much to Falls Church. The band also saw a multitude of changes. Mike Layland and Ruth Suddarth were in charge of the band this year and with them they brought many new ideas. Among them were the addition of rifles and new marching routines. The Choir also added a new dimension to the music department. There were also several service organizations who contributed to changing the appearance of the School — such as the Key Club and the Civinettes. Many organizations saw a variety of changes this year.

The Band saw a new director this year (right) and many other changes, such as rifles in their marching routines (above).

The Varsity Cheerleading squad had several new additions this year — one of them being Karen Simpson.

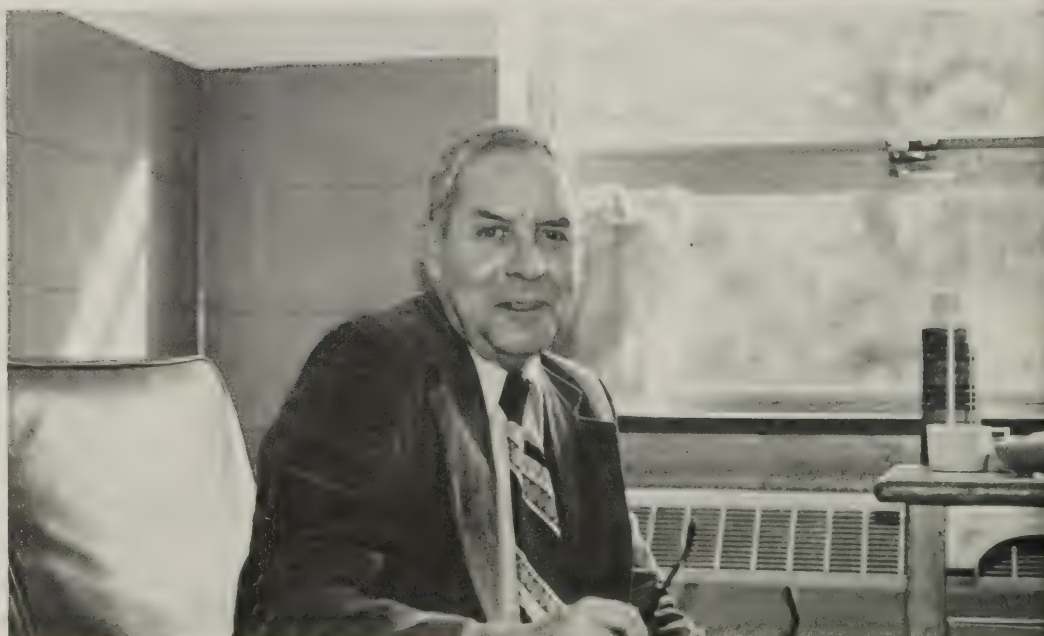

Student Government: Jake Lowernstern, Cathy Jackson, Mark Hall, Robin Connor, Scott Elder.

SG Involved In Energetic Year

Student Government is an extremely important part of the school. The students began working and planning for this school year at the beginning of last summer. They began by organizing for freshmen orientation and ended with the Sweetheart dance. This group was divided into small committees in order to better perform their duties. The members listened to other students' ideas and tried to schedule the activities which would be most enjoyed by everyone. Some of the activities they performed this year were organizing pep busses for football games, after-game sock hops, the Halloween Costume contest, and the canned food drive. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Bruce Campbell and president, Mark Hall, the Student Government had an outstanding year.

Once again, Mr. Campbell (above) over saw the activities and proceedings of the Student Government. This year's president, Mark Hall (upper right), with the assistance of his many officers, tried to keep S.G. related activities running as smooth as possible.

Legislators Make Decisions

The Legislators are a group of twenty students who meet together to decide on school issues. The five representatives from each grade were elected at the beginning of the year by the students of each class. The group's main activity this year was the magazine drive. Their other activities centered around allocating money to different organizations, clubs, and publications throughout the school that did not have enough funds to support themselves. The legislators are one of the most active groups in the school.

A truly diverse group, the Legislators can be found in various exaggerated positions throughout the school.

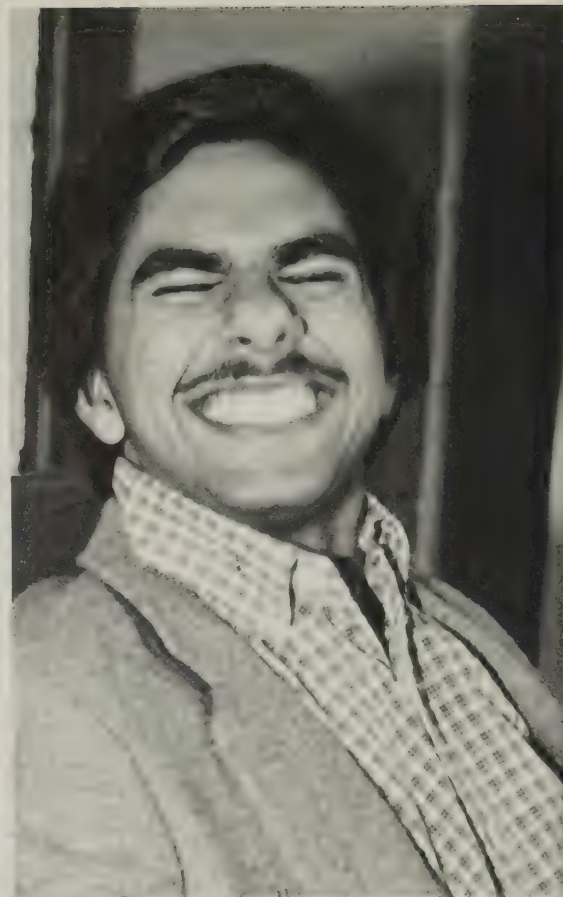

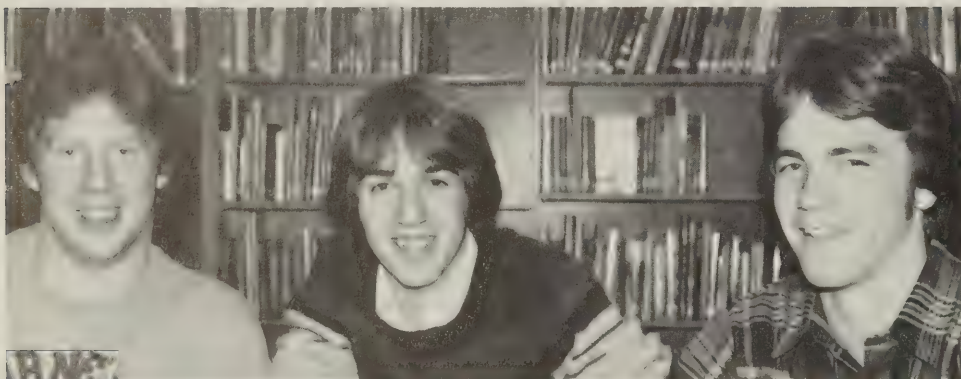

Committee Chairmen: Gary Hamrick, Maria Lusick, Naren Tayal.

Very Busy Year For Chairmen

The Committee Chairmen are members of the Student Government. Their purpose is to assist the other members of the governing body on specialized activities. The chairmen are appointed by other Student Government members and do quite a bit of work. Some of their activities this year included helping with elections, organizing dances, and scheduling assemblies.

Student Advisory Council: Jim Cox, Doug Chapin, Scott Elder.

S.A.C. Makes Big Decisions

The Student Advisory Council is a very important group in Falls Church High School. The members assist the administrators, as well as decide on county wide policies. They represent Falls Church at many important meetings held throughout the year. At these meetings different issues are voted on which greatly concern students in the school.

Money Problem Dealt With

Excursions is the title of the literary magazine, sponsored by Mr. Robert Margrave and edited by Meryl Baier. The annual publication serves as an outlet for student expression in the form of prose, poetry, artwork, and photography. Despite the importance of this magazine to the students of Falls Church, this year's group faced a grave financial situation. Because of the organization's non-profit status, the staff was forced to rely on the generosity of private donors and the Student Government to meet the ever-increasing cost of printing. However, the staff did manage, through their diligent efforts, to provide this exquisite magazine to the students of Falls Church High School free of charge. The staff members, along with Mr. Margrave, certainly deserve the admiration of the students, faculty, and administrators of our school for their amazing efforts and achievements.

As sponsor of this year's magazine, Mr. Robert Margrave gave his staff guidance and support.

Yearbook Staff Achieves Goals

"How can I write about soccer? I don't even know the difference between a baseball and a soccer ball! Ellen, could you please write this for me." ... "Hey, Meg, throw me the Scaleograph." ... "All right! That's it!! I simply don't have enough pictures to do this page." Jennifer stands up, screams, and runs out of the room, crying. It's 6:30 and the yearbook staff is still working diligently on their upcoming deadline. Now, several minutes later, Editor-in-Chief, Jennifer Train, returns to the room. She appears to be a bit more composed — almost laughing. With a seemingly renewed zeal, she sets out to help those who need help, organize those who need organizing, and scream at whoever isn't doing what they're supposed to be doing (she doesn't know what they're supposed to be doing, but she still screams).

This, no matter how abstract it may seem, is a realistic picture of what went into the book you now hold so lovingly in your hands. The staff gave up almost all of its free time, and most of its sanity to bring you this small miracle, your yearbook. But, then, of course, it was worth it. Despite the long hours and seemingly insurmountable difficulties, this year's staff was able to assemble, in one publication, some of the best photography, writing, and artistic creation of Falls Church's students. The staff is exceptionally proud of the results of its efforts, and it is anxiously looking forward to entering this year's book in several local and regional publication contests.

Editor-in-Chief, Jennifer Train (above) and sponsors, Ms. Randi Haupt (below) and JoAnn Gadkowski (right), along with the rest of the staff, worked closely together to produce this year's quality publication. The staff members, because of their great efforts, are very proud of this year's book. They feel that the students will appreciate this year's book.

Not an unusual sight! This clock is representative of the late hours spent at school by staff members as a deadline approaches.

Staff Produces Quality Paper

Under Editor Gary Hamrick and the sponsorship of Ms. Betsy Harris, the Jaguar Journal continued its 34th year of existence. The purpose of the paper was to provide an outlet for student expression of opinions. Although they worked with extremely limited funds from Student Government and advertisements, the staff did manage to keep an up-to-date review of events happening in the school and community. Working with the editor were Scott Nadler, Assistant Editor; Lynette Dick, Managing Editor; Ki Lim, Photography Editor; and Ellen Bryan, Business Manager. The editors, along with several reporters and many interested people, managed to publish the quality newspaper seen at Falls Church.

Drama Club Has New Beginning

Yes, that's right! They're those crazy people from room 222! They're the Drama Club! This year's club, led by president, Pete Morrison and sponsor, Ms. Ruth Suddarth, had an extremely successful year, beginning with their inspired production of You're a Good Man Charlie Brown. Over the years the Drama Department has developed a reputation for being composed of the school's most talented "hams", who love doing whatever they feel. This year was certainly no exception. The department boasted such gifted individuals as David Amoroso, Frank Higgins, Kay Maddux, and Debbie Frenkel. The club's extremely successful year has left a lasting impression on the students, faculty, and administrators of Falls Church High School.

This year's new Drama Club sponsor, Ms. Ruth Suddarth (above) works zealously in preparation for the club's first production, "You're a Good Man Charlie Brown." Below, on the final night of that production, John Swartchick and Kay Maddux revel in the limelight as Schroeder and Lucy.

With a total lack of organization (their natural state), the Drama Club prepares to have their yearbook picture taken.

Thespians are A Diverse Group

The opening of this year saw sponsor, Ms. Lynn Seimon and president, David Amoroso at the helm of the International Thespian Honor Society, guiding the group through another exciting year. The group, whose purpose is to promote the advancement of the dramatic arts throughout the world, is certainly not an ordinary one. It is considered an honor to be a Thespian because of the strict membership requirements. After each Drama Department production, those persons who participated as actors or crew members may apply for Thespian points. Points are awarded to these people in proportion to the amount of time and effort which they have put forth toward the production. When an individual has obtained thirty points, that person is eligible for membership in the International Thespian Honor Society. Among their activities this year were the initiation of new members and participation in a local one-act festival.

Spanish Club Is Very Spanish

The Spanish Club (El Club de Español), under the patient guidance of Mrs. Carolyn Elder and the qualified leadership of Sam Shin, was very active this year. The club, now in its eleventh year at Falls Church, was formed for the purpose of bringing a new sense of appreciation of Spanish speaking culture to the students, faculty, and administrators of our school. This year's club, through its diligent work, has done just that. Among its activities were showing movies about the Mayas and Incas, arranging for guest speakers from Puerto Rico, Mexico, Spain, and Cuba, and willingly lending its valuable assistance to the Spanish Honor Society in its fund raising efforts. This year's club can certainly be considered one of the more industrious groups in the organization's history. Its accomplishments give them a great deal to be proud of.

Spanish Club sponsor, Ms. Carolyn Elder (above), not only sponsored the Spanish Club but also teaches Spanish and American Civilizations. Dianne Giampocaró (left) answers questions about the club's activities.

Spanish Club member, Jim Dalkin.

Cortney Ensor is not only a member of the Spanish Club, but also a member of the Keyettes.

Continental French Club Spreads Culture

Under the leadership of sponsor, Ms. Paulette Young, and president, Linda Badger, this year's French Club got off to a very active start. The club, which has been in existence for several years, strove to bring to the students of Falls Church High School a sense of appreciation for French speaking culture and those social aspects associated with it. The club supported itself solely through the collection of dues from its members and fund raising activities, as demonstrated during their French candygram sale in the early part of the year. Among their activities this year were participation in the faculty tea, dining at a French restaurant, a Christmas party, and attending several French films.

German Club Makes Progress

This year's German Club, under the supervision of Ms. Annette Johnson, and president Sherry Starnes, was unusually active this year. Although they experienced problems in obtaining permission to use school transportation for their activities, they were able to attend several German restaurants, had a party or two, and at the time that this article was written, they were planning a trip to Busch Gardens in the spring. The objective of this year's club was not only to provide for the enjoyment of its members, but also to generate an interest in German culture and language on the part of the students. Through the inspiration of its members, it is obvious that this year's group certainly succeeded in reaching their objective.

Latin Club Has Very Busy Year

Members of the Latin Club tried to learn more about Greco-Roman civilizations. They found that experience was, by far, the most enjoyable way to accomplish this. The members familiarized themselves with the cuisine by taking their taste buds to a Roman restaurant. The club made all types of food for the faculty Christmas Tea to show off their favorite Roman cooking. Learning the customs and traditions is an important factor in understanding a country. A fun way of gaining this basic knowledge is by visiting the nation. During spring break, several Latin Club members went to Italy to find out more about the people and their culture.

The club participated in several Latin competitions (certamens) during the year. They placed four teams in a local contest of 127 teams. Several students placed nationally in a Latin exam which was given in Roanoke in mid-November. These winners will represent the Falls Church Latin Club in a national convention over the summer. The club also hosted a certamen at Falls Church in September, along with a banquet in the spring.

FBLA Promotes Career Interest

The Falls Church chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) is part of a nationwide business related organization. Led by Vicki Eldridge, and sponsor, Ms. Bernice Polk, the club's goal was to promote an interest in business related professions. This year's group took part in a very successful cheese sale and sponsored the "Ugly Teacher Day".

Goals Achieved

The goal of Falls Church's chapter of the Distributive Education Clubs of America is to promote an interest in the business world. This year's group, led by sponsor, Ms. Pat Stone, and president, Larra Brocato, made great strides toward achieving this goal. Their activities this year included an employer appreciation breakfast, sales projects, and an employer banquet.

Mr. Michael Beto, this year's sponsor of VICA, gives his students sound advice about business and life.

VICA Instills Business Sense

VICA is an important part of the business department. This program offers students an opportunity to gain experience in the business world. Its purpose is to promote student relations. This club gives students a chance to develop skills in sales and other areas of business. This year proved to be profitable for all members of the organization.

Engrossed in thoughtful study, four of Mr. Beto's students prepare for an upcoming discussion.

Successful Year For Cosmetology

Cosmetology Vocational Industrial Cooperative Association was an active service club in the school. It was comprised of vocational education students enrolled in cosmetology. This organization was sponsored by Ms. Stalensky and was run with the purpose of bettering community relationships. The students involved had several fund drives in order to raise money for the cosmetology department.

J.V. Captures Winning Spirit

This year's Junior Varsity cheerleading squad, captained by Margo't Kent, strove to inspire a sense of school spirit and comradery, among the students of Falls Church High School. Among those activities, in which they participated this year were, cheering at J.V. football and basketball games, wrestling matches, selling football programs, cheering at the Homecoming game and at "It's Academic." This year the squad of ten girls worked with great vigor, in an effort to sharpen their cheerleading skills. Through their many hours of practice and dedication, the girls helped to provide encouragement to our teams and make our pep rallies and games a little bit nicer. The group, sponsored by Ms. Scott, developed new friendships and reached new and special goals this year. The squad has learned that it is only through patience, friendship, and hard work that they can succeed in life.

The J.V. cheerleaders, as well as the Varsity cheerleaders (below), cheered the Jags on to victory at the Homecoming game.

FC's Fantastic Freshmen Squad

This year's freshmen cheerleading squad, composed of eight girls, worked hard to support the freshmen football team. Although being a cheerleader means a lot of hard work, Kristy Lloyd says, "It's fun work!" The freshmen squad, in general, feels that all of the hard work is worth it because, says Carol Stubin, "We're all good friends." This year's freshmen cheerleading squad cheered at freshmen football games, basketball games, wrestling matches, and at "It's Academic." The group is really an enthusiastic one.

Sherri Amoroso, Ximena Aulestia, Kristi Wheeler, Kara Tschida, Karol Stubin, Kim Hunt, Kristy Lloyd, not pictured — Fran Maccini.

They showed their spirit by helping to plan pep rallies, making locker stickers, and through their long hours of diligent practice. Being a freshmen made cheerleading even more difficult. Getting acquainted with the school and other students made everything just a little bit harder. The excitement of your first game is even stronger when you are out there yelling your heart out. Every moment makes a difference to the players, and the cheers keep them fired up to play. From their hard work, these eight girls have learned what it means to be spirited and to be members of Falls Church High School.

Staring into the setting sun, frosh cheerleaders prepare for another game.

Without missing a beat, Fran Maccini makes an attempt to stay in step.

In the pouring rain, cheerleaders endeavor to inspire the crowd.

Very Active Year

This year's Torch and Banner Society was, as it has been for the past several years, dominated by members of the band. The group, sponsored by Mrs. Armetha Corbin, made great strides toward achieving their goal of increasing their membership. As usual their activities included cleaning the Senior courtyard, in addition to their many other valuable services to the school. Considering their great efforts, this year's group has much to be proud of.

Mr. Allen (above) and John Nogrady (right) played important roles in the formation of the Bicycle Club.

New Club Formed

This year saw the birth of a new and totally different club at Falls Church. This was the first year of existence for the Bicycle Club. Led by Mr. George Allen, the club strove to stimulate student interest in physical fitness, through the popular sport of bicycling. Although the club met less often during the bitter cold of winter, they did manage to remain quite active during the beautiful weather of fall and spring.

Civinettes Have Successful Year

The Civinettes started off the year by painting the posts and paws found along Jaguar Trail. This club, led by president, Stacey Stevens and sponsor, Ms. Connie Zucker, is a national service club, categorized under Junior Civitans. They participated in several fund raisers and contests throughout the school year. They collected money for the March of Dimes, supervised a food drive, helped the United Way campaign, won the canned food drive contest, and helped at P.T.A. meetings. Civinettes also set up for sports banquets, washed teachers blackboards each week, and decorated bulletin boards around the school. The members of this club worked hard and did everything they could to make our school a better place to be.

This year's Civinettes demonstrated their school spirit by cheering and painting paw prints on Jaguar Trail.

Civinettes; 1st Susie Nedrow, Ann Goodwin, Krys Walicki, Stacey Stevens, Tricia Bostian, Kelly Mathews, Deana Layborne, Andrea Bobby, 2nd Hyun Joo Kim, Denise Cazalas, Hannah Richard, Rosey Paljug, Allison Wheeler, Karen Simmon, Karol Ponton, 3rd Robin Thacker, Fran Maccini, Chung Jo, Anne Sommers, Kem Mann, Sung Yoon, Kim Morgan, Charlotte Garris, back Kathy Goodwin, Laurie Gardiner, Vicki Stegert, Terry Brocato, Susie Hile, Erica Kline, Janis Wood, Amy Prague.

1st Joan Steigerwald, Leslie Farrell, Missie Thomas, Bridget Lockwood, Ann Brunton, Bonnie McNemar, 2nd Caroline Houston, Shannon Hunt, Robyn Jones, Nelinda Anderson, Sherry Needham, Judy Cunningham, 3rd Cheryl Little, Kristi Knott, Karen Vandergrift, Marina Pozzetto, Barbie Tsittos, Nancy Pitts, Cindy Russell, back Kristi Lloyd, Mireya Espinosa, Kim Hunt, Sherri Amoroso, Tina Walsh, Michelle Steenland.

Civinettes president, Stacey Stevens (right), and sponsor, Ms. Connie Zucker (above) contributed much to their organization. These two individuals, in addition to the many activities in which they were involved, were also responsible for the rebirth of the Civitans.

Keyettes Have Exciting Year

The Keyettes is a service club with intentions of helping the community. They started off the year by building a float for Homecoming. Keyettes also showed their spirit by decorating a hall for Pride Week. Because they changed presidents in the middle of the year, they did not get as much done as they had hoped. Their main objective for this year was to increase their membership, which they definitely did. Many girls were inducted after an initiation which involved gorging themselves at Farrell's in their pajamas.

Key Club Gives Aid To Students

This year's Key Club, a chapter member of a nationwide organization, was exceptionally active. President, Rolf Williams and Sponsor, Mr. Richard Mansford said that the purpose of the club was to perform services for the school and community. In addition, the group tried to generate an increased awareness of school affairs, and to encourage their fellow students to participate in these affairs. The Key Club is classified as a service club and this year's group has certainly earned that distinction. Among their activities this year were painting in the stadium, setting up and taking down the P.A. system before and after each home game, and working in cooperation with the American Heart Association. When asked what the membership requirements of the Key Club were, one member responded that there were no real requirements, only that interested persons should have, "A desire to participate." It is this desire to participate which makes the Key Club what it is; a true service organization.

Senior Class Vice President, Aaron Brown, is also a member of the Key Club.

Showing great pride, the band, as host of the Tournament of Bands, marches during the opening ceremonies (right).

Mr. Michael Layland (left), accepted the position as director of the band for 1980-81. He is proud of all of his marchers.

MARCH 999

This year the Falls Church Marching Band experienced a change. After nine years, the band had a new director. As a matter of fact it had two new directors. Under the direction of Michael Layland and assistant director Ruth Suddarth, the Marching Band got an early start on their activities.

Beginning with the traditional Orkney Springs Band Camp in August they went to Fairmont, West Virginia in early September to be the honor band. In October, they competed in the Abbeville Southeastern Tournament of Bands in South Carolina, where they took third in their division. They also hosted their own Tournament of Bands and competed at the Mount Vernon Invitational Tournament, taking a close third under horrible weather conditions. In November, they performed at the championship soccer game at Robert F. Kennedy Stadium, as well as the halftime show at the Redskins-Vikings game. In the Spring the band will travel to Virginia Beach for competition, where they will be the only band to have won twice before.

Under the field direction of Drum Major Doug Chapin, this group (consisting of mainly underclassmen with less experience than previous years) had to really work for their success. Many long hours were put into practice. The band would go out to the field at the beginning of sixth period and sometimes would not leave until three or four o'clock. There were many times, too, that they had to return later the same night for another three to four hour practice. During this time frustration would mount, but dedication and the desire for success stepped in to allow the practice to go on.

Both Mike Layland and Ruth Suddarth are Falls Church Band graduates from the Class of 1972. They also went to the University of Tennessee together where they majored in music. Mike and Ruth have much hope for the future and believe with time that the Falls Church Marching Band will be the best it has ever been. Mike and Ruth are two spirited young people who have much to give to the members of the Falls Church Bands.

At R.F.K. (top) the band is introduced to the crowd by means of the scoreboard.

At the Homecoming game, the float the band worked so hard on is paraded around the field.

It is inevitable that when the famous gilloutine is performed (right) the crowd will roar.

In order to perfect their marching routine, the band (below right) spent seemingly endless hours on practices and sectionals.

In a moment of glory, Drum Major, Doug Chapin (bottom right) proudly brings the band to the finale at RFK.

In perfect step, Robin Blanke (below) keeps up with the rest of the rifles.

Stage Band Adds Diversity to Band Department

The Stage Band consists of those people who enjoy jazz or just want to play a different style of music. This year the Stage Band consisted of only thirteen members; four had returned from last year. During the winter the band is a welcome change of pace at all band concerts. This group was much smaller than previous years, but that didn't slow them down. Since Stage Band was scheduled for first period, they began each day with a good solid hour of practice. Under the leadership of Mike Layland, they not only learned their parts, but also learned more about the style and rhythm of jazz. This year's activities included many benefit performances for various community organizations, as well as competing in county competitions. The Stage Band had an extremely productive year.

Stage band trumpets (far left) perform a trumpet solo for a concert for which they have long prepared.

Also a member of the symphonic band, Cindy Davis (left) divides her times so that she may play in the stage band.

The band performs a different variety of music than do concert and symphonic. Below they perform at the Christmas concert.

Symphonic Strives for Success

When it is no longer warm enough to march, the Band retires to the indoors, where they have auditions for a period of about a week. Those that score highly make up the Symphonic Band. This band is the most accomplished of the two winter Bands. The people who make this band expect to spend much time practicing on their own time as well as rehearsing during school. The Symphonic Band also practiced at least one night during the week. Sometimes it was necessary for the band to practice more than one night a week. They did this before important competitions, such as the County Band Festival.

This year the Symphonic Band performed at several functions, including the Christmas Concert, the County Band Festival, and the annual John Philip Sousa Concert. The Spring activities also included a trip to Kings Dominion for "Music in the Park". Another event that occurred this year was the All-Regional Band tryouts. They were held at Falls Church and many members of the Symphonic Band tried out and made it. The Symphonic Band was directed by Mike Layland, who believes that a good Symphonic Band will make a better Marching Band.

The symphonic trombone players, along with the rest of the band's members, perform a few of the Christmas favorites.

Following their performance, members of the symphonic band (below left) stand for a few moments to take a bow.

Amidst the confetti, performing at the Christmas Concert (below), a portion of the symphonic band contributes to the performance.

Concert Works Hard and Gains Much Experience

The Concert Band was made up of students who did not score as high on their auditions as those in the Symphonic Band. That does not mean that they didn't work as hard. The Concert Band also practiced one night during the week as well as the scheduled sixth period. Like the Symphonic Band, the Concert Band would practice twice a week before an important competition if they felt they needed it. Challenges were held for both bands, but those that sat in the first chair positions in the Concert Band were allowed to challenge for a chair in the Symphonic Band, starting with the last chair in their section. Anybody that wanted to challenge was allowed to do so. The Concert Band performed at the Christmas Concert, the County Band Festival and the annual John Philip Sousa Concert. The Concert Band was directed by Ruth Suddarth, who believed that dedication and hard work was the only way to reach success.

During a long diligent rehearsal session, Jon Jensen works out his drum routine until it is flawless.

The Band Library is overflowing with a wide variety of music. This includes everything from classical to jazz to marches (top).

At the Christmas concert, orchestra members discuss a certain piece of music as they await their turn to play.

Each day during third period the orchestra (bottom) meets in the old Drama room. Their practices provided good results.

Small in Number Yet Big on Hard Work, Dedication and Success!

This year was Misses Lunsford's second year as director of the Falls Church High School Orchestra, and a very successful one too. Each year the Orchestra works hard for its success, and this year was no exception. The Orchestra is not a very large group of individuals, but those that do belong enjoy what they are doing and work hard to benefit and improve the entire group. The Orchestra performed at many different elementary schools around the county. They did this to help promote their organization. Other activities for this year included performing at the Christmas Concert, the Spring Concert, and the County Orchestra Festival.

Choir Adds New Dimension To F.C. Music Department

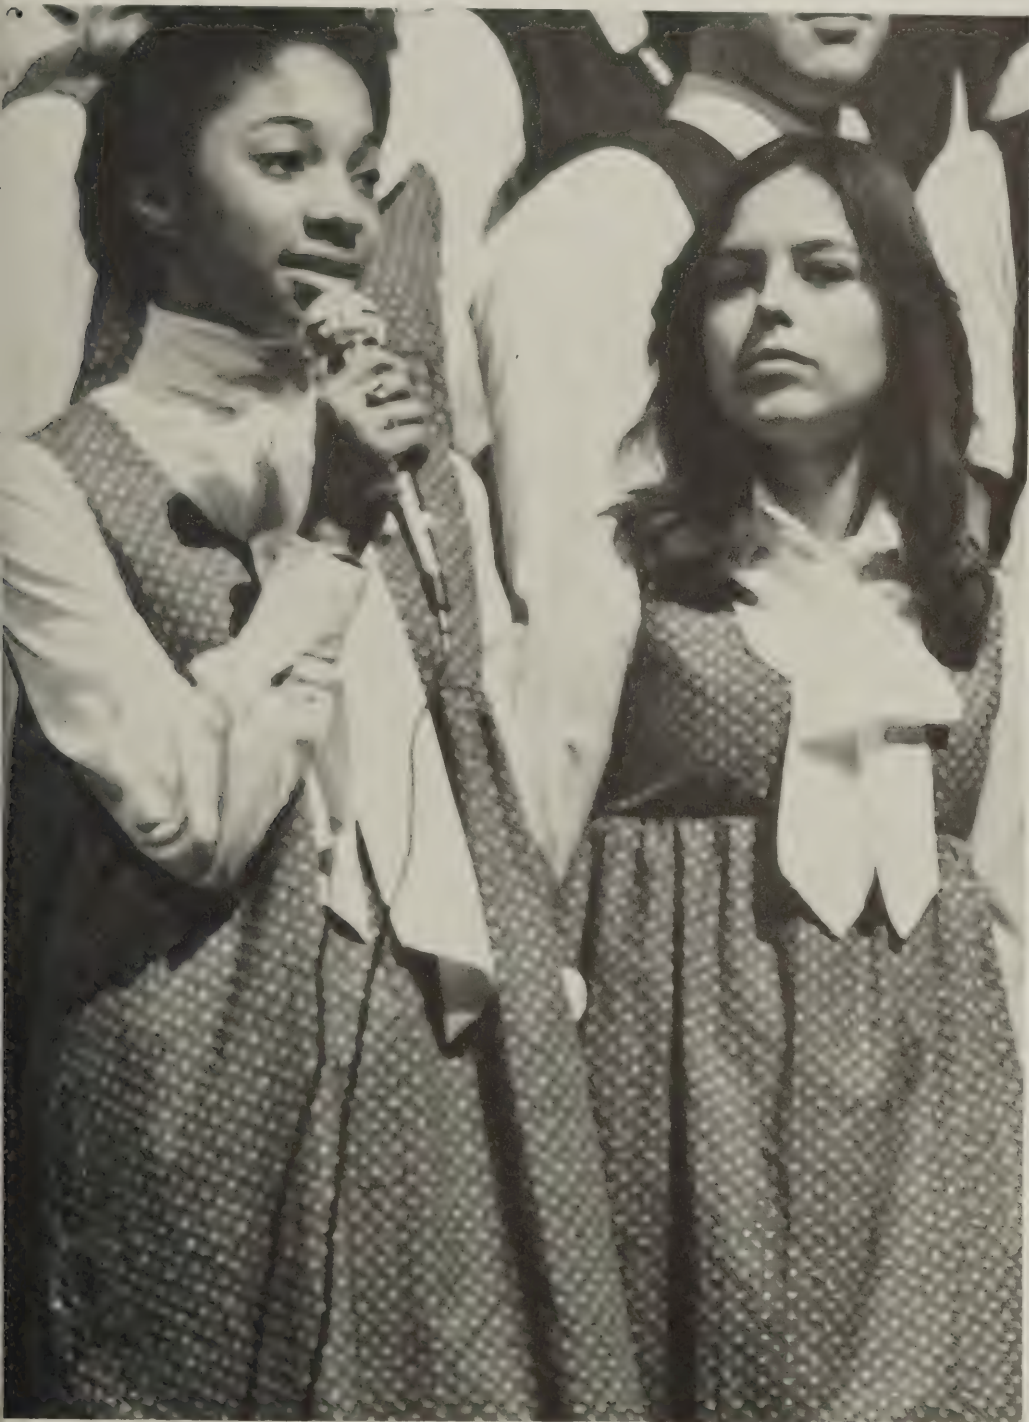

Falls Church High School experienced another change this year, a change called Choir. For the first time in years Falls Church can proudly say they have a Choir. Under the leadership of Ruth Suddarth, the Choir was a great success. This year's activities included performing at Homecoming, the Christmas concert, the County Chorus Festival, and the Spring Concert. Some members of the Choir also sang the National Anthem at the Basketball games. Individuals that were interested tried out for the All-County Choir and the All-Regional Choir. Ruth Suddarth's hard work and dedication paid off in another Falls Church activity. There were twenty six members in the Choir.

A solo is performed beautifully by Sonya Hall (left) at the Christmas concert. The choir was well received by all.

For their first year, the choir (below) had many excellent performances throughout the past year. Their hard work paid off.

Look How We've Changed

Curriculum and Course Changes Enrich Students

In the area of academics, Falls Church has seen many changes in recent years. Among other things, a new and more difficult grading scale has been in effect for the past three years. This scale was a drastic change from what the students were used to. Instead of the standard Scale (A, 90-100; B, 80-89; C, 70-79 . . . ) students had to learn to adjust to the rigid requirements of the grading scale to the right. There was also a change in credit requirements which effected all classes to enter Falls Church following the Class of '81. It required that all students have at least one foreign language or science credit. In addition to the changes there have been new courses added at Falls Church in order to broaden and enrich its students.

In one of her Earth Science classes, Mrs. MacDuff assists a Freshman. Students are now required to have a science or foreign language credit.

Honor Society Better School

The National Honor Society is a club for students who have done a lot for their school. To be a member, a person must have a three or five grade point average or above. Along with this, a person must meet the requirements in character, service, leadership, and citizenship. To meet these requirements, members must be well rounded students. To have character, they must be generally nice and polite to everybody. Service involves what the students do for the school and community such as service clubs, church organizations, and any other activity which helps others in some way. To have ideas and to step forward and show others what or how to do something. Citizenship is to actually do something for a club, not to just have paid dues and become a member on the list. For a student to have all of these qualities is quite a job. For those who do, the honor society gives them their deserved honors.

National Junior Honor Society Sets Standards

The National Junior Honor Society is a club for freshmen and sophomores. The requirements for this group are basically the same as those for National Honor Society. Students who meet the scholarship requirements may submit an essay about their other qualities. The essays are critiqued by other members. Those selected are inducted at a ceremony in the auditorium. This club does several things for the school during the year. They finish off the year by taking a trip in the spring to a local place that the students pick. Members of this club are the leaders of their classes and deserved to be recognized.

FHS Samples French Cuisine

The French Honor Society is an academic club for students who have received mostly A's in their French classes. This club was led by Mrs. Corkey and president Naren Tayal. The members cooked all types of treats for the Faculty Christmas tea. They all attended the party for food and fun along with other clubs and the faculty. The students also ate a French dinner. The food was cooked in the Home Economics room and was served at a senior member's home. The main dishes were chicken, wine and beef bourgignon. Several kinds of desserts were prepared to tempt everyone attending. This year's French Honor Society had a lot of fun learning about the culture of the French and had an extremely successful year with a wide variety of activities.

Spanish Honor Society Active

The Spanish Honor Society, whose purpose was to promote excellence in the Spanish Language, had a very active year. The society planned for more members to be involved and it was successful as exemplified by doubling its activities from the previous year. The society started off their year with a bake sale and a candygram sale. The society helped sponsor the Christmas tea for the faculty. They provided a table full of Spanish food and punch. In February the society went to a Spanish restaurant to sample foods from Spanish culture. The Society installed several changes this year. One was the point system which allows members to gain points for helping in various activities. The other was the change in membership requirements. All in all, it was a successful year.

Girl's and Boy's State Teaches About Government

Girl's and Boy's state are week long seminars held the last week of June. To be nominated for this honor, a student must show outstanding qualities of leadership. Teachers nominate their most thought of students. These people must then fill out the required application and be accepted by the American Legion, the sponsoring group. At this seminar students learn about government through an interesting activity. Each student becomes a Nationalist or Federalist and is assigned a city. They must help comprise that state's constitution.

Students Gain Enrichment

The Governor's School for the gifted was held at several colleges and universities in the area. The school offered common college courses. The subjects offered were humanities, history, and natural, physical, and social sciences. Each student who was nominated chose two or three courses and was involved in a full agenda of other activities. All those selected underwent a rigorous process before being accepted to the school.

English Team Competes

The Falls Church English team competed with other schools in Fairfax County. The members were split into three teams of five and competed in several different areas of English. The students worked as a team to complete worksheets dealing with grammar, vocabulary, and literature. An individual spelling test was taken in which the team members' scores were all averaged together. The team was headed by Mrs. Sieman and had a very successful year.

National Merit Semi-Finalists

This year's senior class had three National Merit Semi-Finalists. These outstanding students Doug Chapin, Ann Cavazos and Don Mathews placed in the top one percent in the nation on their Preliminary Scholastic Achievement Tests, during their junior year. To be chosen as a finalist the students must fill out a detailed application form. This form is read over by a group of evaluators. To be chosen as a finalist is a great help toward college. This title helps students receive scholarships based on their merits. These students have worked hard to achieve this honor and deserve any help they can get from being a finalist.

Forensic Team

Forensics is a team made up of excellent talkers, creative minds, and persuasive speeches. This is what it takes to be successful in the Forensics club. A Forensics competition is basically an oratorical contest. The students must give speeches in front of a judge who critiques the talk and selects the winner. The oratories may be of poetry or of any topic a person may wish to discuss. At some of the meets, a person is given thirty minutes to research a secret topic before he must present an intelligent, and coherent discussion of the subject. This club consists of students who can think on the spot and talk at the same time.

Debate Team Membership Has Great Increase

The topic of this year's debate team was "The safety of consumer goods". Each member of the team must research both sides of the issue in order that they can debate on both sides of the issue. The debators can use any materials they can find to support either their pro or con stance. The number of participants this year has tripled over last year. They compete with other schools in the county for a total of seven meets. For the winners, finals and an invitational meet are held. Under the leadership of Mrs. McGill, these students argued tough to support their views.

Junior Varsity Math Team Ranks In Top Half of Fairfax County

The Junior Varsity math team consists of students taking Algebra 1 or geometry. This is the fourth year Falls Church has had a team competing in the Fairfax County league. Under the leadership of John Christ the team ranks in the top half of the competing schools. The students meet once a month to work six problems limited from Algebra II and under. Each school sends in the right answers from its top five scorers. Their total number of right answers are added up to compile the school's total score. The team is sponsored by Miss Comeau and has approximately twenty members. These students are in the top of their math classes and try hard to work difficult math problems. These students get excellent practice for the next year when they can join the varsity team. They will be more capable of figuring out the types of problems used in a varsity meet.

Varsity Math Team Challenges Math Abilities

The Varsity math team consisted primarily of students taking Algebra II or higher math courses, however several geometry and Algebra I students attempted to try their luck. The team competed on both state and county levels again this year. Although the county meets were considerably harder than the state meets, students such as Scott Elder, Jake Lowenstern, David Chiu and Andy LaRow helped make Falls Church one of the top teams in both leagues. The students worked complicated problems from all levels of math to test their mathematical abilities. With Mr. Newsome as sponsor, the team promised another good year.

Athletic Teams Make Changes Toward Success

We have seen many changes in the sports teams and activities in the past several years.

Two years ago Falls Church received a new Varsity football coach and this year they received new helmets and jerseys. There have also been changes in other sports. We see newcomers in all facets of sports. As Senior participants graduate and leave, new players arrive and move up. Many teams this year were young and their records often reflected that fact.

Altogether, the sports teams had fairly good seasons.

The gymnastics team had another season of difficult meets which required much preparation (left).

The field hockey teams (top middle) did well considering they saw newcomers.

With only one Senior on the team the Boy's Varsity basketball team (opposite) saw many new faces.

No change here. The wrestlers (below) had another undefeated season.

Varsity Football Ends Season With 7-3 Record

The Varsity football team showed a large amount of improvement over last year by ending their season with a 7-3 record. Quarterback Bill Wheatley's strong arm and deadly aim caused the team's passing game to increase greatly. Offensively, Seniors Darren Gazes, Shaun Shifflett, George Small and Jim Beach opened gaping holes on the line to provide for a strong rushing attack. Paul Woodside contributed a great deal to the team with his excellent kicking ability. His 50 yd. field goals piled up many points at crucial moments. Runningback George Johnson also scored a lot of points. He kept spectators entertained at every game.

The defensive team did an outstanding job in stopping offensive players. Senior players Stuart Hunt, Donald Turner, Rob Epling, Robbie McKeever, Neil Bailey and Glenn Louis made many hard, well-placed tackles. They stopped their opponents and helped the Jaguars to win their games. Bob Steigerwald, Steve Clark and Craig Westbrook attacked the opposition with unyielding determination. They gave it all they had to help the Jaguars in their winning season.

Several Falls Church players were named to the all-district team. George Johnson, Steve Clark, Paul Woodside and Bob Steigerwald were among these players. Bill Wheatley, Carl Stewart, Frank Grant, Craig Westbrook and Shaun Shifflett were also included on the team.

All these players and their dedication to Falls Church led them to their outstanding victories. These boys brought crowds to the football fields as they played out their hearts to win for their school. Each Friday night they worked together to make students proud of Falls Church. Hours of practice, the coaching of Mr. Fish, and a strong yearning to win gave the mighty Jaguars the strength they had. It took the whole team working together to get the results they did. Their activities on the field this season will make Jaguars proud to attend Falls Church and should make the players happy to have been a member of this excellent team.

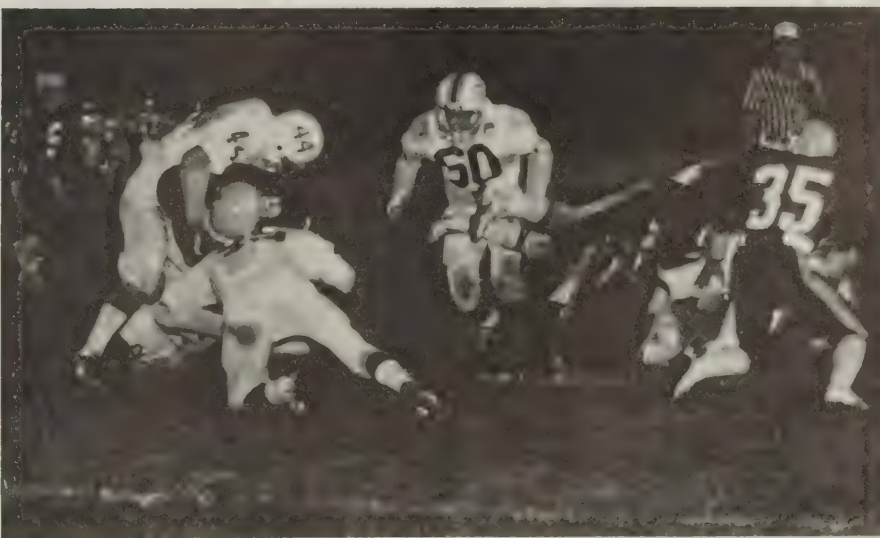

This year's defensive line (above and left) was able to hold off many opponents' running backs and stop the other team from scoring.

J.V. Football Team Works Hard

Although the record of the Junior Varsity Football team was not superb, does not reflect the hard work put in games and practices. The hot sun and cold afternoons were enough to discourage any sophomore. However, the boys were dedicated and gave it all they possibly could. They had only one win and one tie. The losses were the result of an inexperienced team.

The offensive team was led by Matt Hynes, Jay Baily, and Jim Jones. The defensive side showed the strength of Billy Beach, Morris Harrigan, and James Tyrel.

Next year these boys will help to form the Varsity team. With more practice they can surely be promising varsity material and can lead the school to more victories.

Freshmen Off to A Winning Start

The Freshman football team opened their high school football careers with a winning season. Their record of four wins and two losses expresses only a small amount of their talent. The team showed a superb ability to run over their opponents.

David Green, D.J. Ford, Harry Howard, and Craig Little led the offense to many points during the season. Jeff Watts and Brad Kerxton steered the defensive team in the right direction. These players, along with all the other baby jags, started their high school years in an excellent way. They gave their class members a team to be proud of, as well as a great team to cheer on. They worked hard and did a fine job. Lots of effort was put forth by these guys to succeed as they did. Even the rain didn't stop these boys as they led the school to victory. From the way they performed, these players can be expected to form the backbone of future Falls Church teams.

Varsity Field Hockey Puts Forth Effort

The Varsity Hockey team wrapped up the season with a third place in the district. The team enjoyed several night games, which were well attended. Many girls were injured during the season and illnesses also depleted the membership at times.

Captains Maria Lusick and Leeny Kobayashi inspired the girls a great deal. Goalie Terri Erwin's performance was an unexpected asset. Other players such as senior Linda Googins, Juniors Theresa Tribble, Terry Brocato, Michelle Rankin, Laurie Gardiner, Naoemy Escobar, and Sophomores Mary Miller, Nancy Pitts, and Margaret Lusick added to the strong spirit which united these girls.

With three seniors leaving, next year's team should be very experienced, and should do extremely well.

Junior Varsity Field Hockey Has 4-6 Season

The Junior Varsity Field Hockey Team did surprisingly well this year. Although many of the girls were novices, they quickly caught on and added super defensive attacks and great offensive plays. Judy Cunningham, Shannon Hunt, Amy Haupt, Donna Moorefield, and Debbie Shomo proved to be great players, with Holly Chesser stopping the opposition from scoring goals.

Hopes are high, with great things expected from these girls in the future. With practice it is certain that they can produce a winning Varsity team next year, as well as a superb Junior Varsity team.

Girls' Cross Country Has Winning Season

The Girls' Cross Country Team had a remarkable season, also. Like the boys team, their 4-1 record held only one loss to Annandale. They, too, placed second in the district.

The girls' team welcomed many new freshmen with enthusiasm and eager hopes. Contrary to popular belief, the girls' team worked just as hard as the boys' team and deserve the same amount of recognition. It is certain they will be the ones to watch in the coming years.

Anne Fontaine made First Team All-District, while Stacy Gibbons, Barbie Dunn, and Katrina Leary were included in the Second Team. Coach Wells feels that the girls did their best, and hopes that next year's team will be as successful as this year's team.

Boys Cross Country Has 4-1 Season

Boys' Cross Country had an outstanding season this year, with a 4-1 record, losing only to Annandale. With hard work and determination, the guys ran every day and increased their speed and stamina with each mile. After school practices were held every day, and the team became stronger with every meet. As a team, they finished second in the District, and took third place in the George Mason Invitational.

With Bobby Boyle, Tim Dolan, and Vince Nicchitta making the First Team All-District, and Mike Lackey making the Second Team, it is felt that we've come a long way. Senior Tim Dolan also made the First Team All-Metro, and was included in the First Team All-State.

Tennis Has Upsetting Season

This year's tennis team had a disappointing season all around. Losing more than half of their team to graduation, they had to start anew, recruiting new players and strengthening the returning ones. Captain Alison Brunton and, co-captains Theresa Lampher and Allison Wheeler tried to unite the girls and offer helpful hints to all. Occupying the number one spot in singles was freshman Anne Sommers, transferring from Yorktowne. She and number two player Alison Brunton teamed up to play doubles in the number one position. Other doubles teams were Nicky Hershey and Allison Wheeler, and Michelle Steenland and Joan Steigerwald.

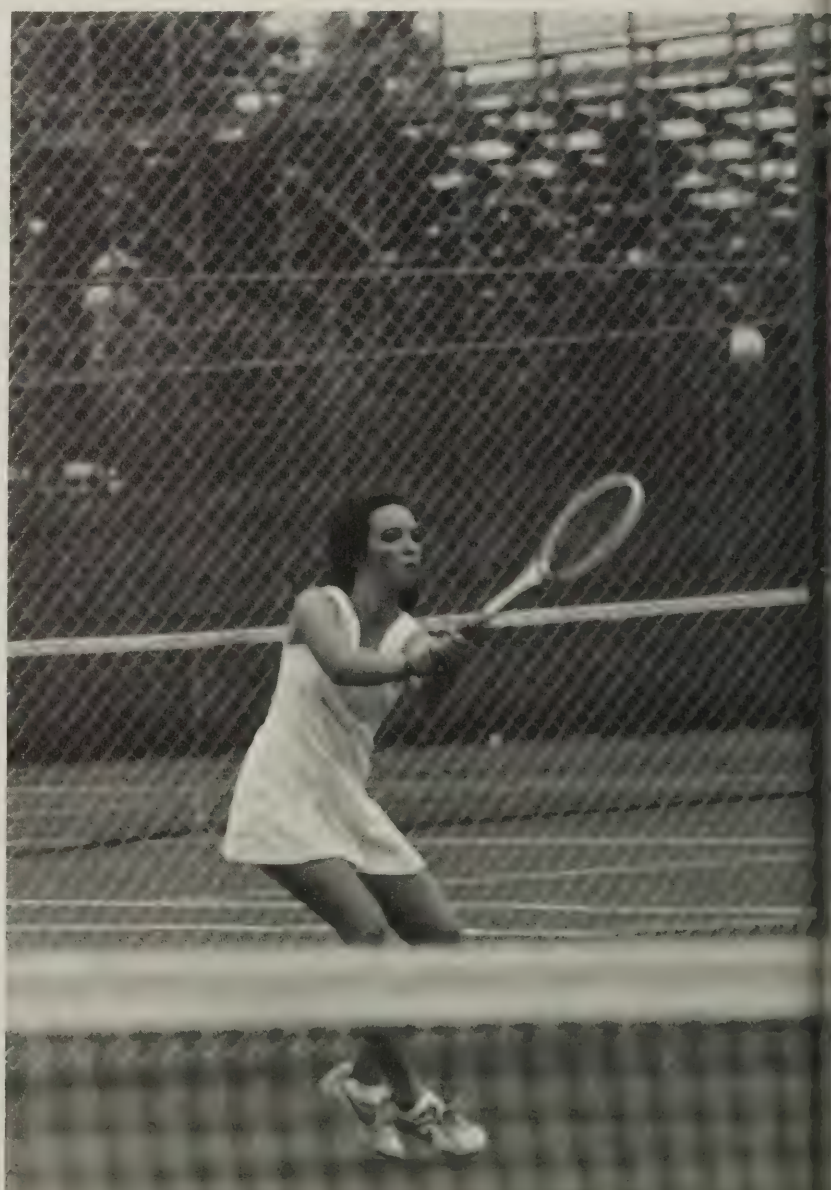

Although they did not have a winning season this year, next year's team will have more experience, and promises to be a top contender in our district.

Gymnastics Hard Work Pays Off

This year's gymnastics team has a lot of experience behind it. With three top gymnasts performing all-around, our team managed to capture first, second, and third places in many meets. Returning seniors included Johnna Richard — all around, Elly Flaherty — vault and floor, and Dawn Gerhart on the vault and uneven parallel bars. Junior Karen Efird also competed all-around, and helped to produce many Jaguar victories. Freshman Carol Stubin was an extremely important member of the team. State-ranked, she performed on all equipment, and floor exercise.

Losing several seniors, but hopefully gaining many new freshmen, next year's team can be expected to do even better.

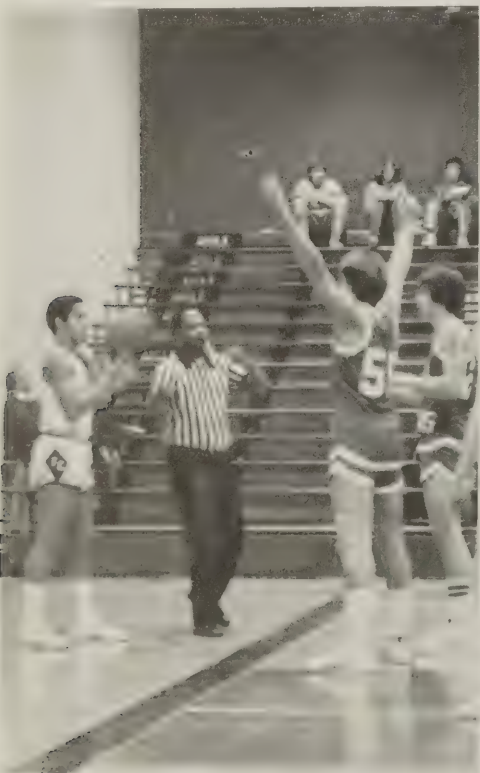

The only Senior on this year's Varsity squad, Steve Liberty, extends his reach for the ball during a jump.

Young Teams To Provide Strength In Coming Years

With only one senior on the team this year, the Boy's Varsity Basketball team has a great future. Senior Steve Liberty, a returning letterman, Junior Kevin Sutton, and sophomores, Bernard Gray, and J.J. Brooks led the team and soared the scores in many games. The unexpected improvement of J.J. Brooks surprised many. Leading our district in scoring averages for several weeks, he proved to be a big asset.

Many players transferred from other schools. Adam Vance and Gerald Murphy aided the team as they finally got to play in a few games. All in all, the future looks bright and maybe next year Falls Church will have the combination for a winning team.

Although small in number, the Boy's Junior Varsity Basketball team put forth the effort of twice as many boys. The Jaguars strengthened their skills with each game and became more familiar with the higher geared tension on the court. Co-captains John Kerr and D.J. Ford led the Jags to many victories and provided strong leadership. As the season progressed, the B team began to look more like a well balanced, compatible team. It is certain that these players will be good varsity material next year.

The Freshmen started off their season with hard work and high hopes. Though they played fewer games, they showed their skill improvement with each game. Many fine players were produced this year. This list includes Harry Howard, Chris Perkins, and Peter Bratton. Although the team was small, the height of Dusty Poncin was a much needed boost. Learning the ropes this year was the hardest thing for the team. Many of these players showed the dedication and aggressiveness needed for a well-balanced team.

Intently, Brain Sanders and David Stickly listen as Coach Dolan gives the players a pep talk.

JV and Varsity Girls Display Experience and Improvement

The girls Varsity Basketball team had a fairly successful season this year. With Karen Anderson, Janis Brooks and Maura Burke as returning players, they had the needed experience. Junior Laurie Gardiner and Theresa Tribble proved to be great assets to the team. Although their record does not reflect the amount of hard work and dedication these girls put forth, it is certain that they were determined to do their best. They each showed leadership and respect toward each other, and next year's team is sure to be strong with several players returning.

The Junior Varsity team showed enthusiasm and determination in their games this season. Leading the team, Margaret Lusick and Joan Steigerwald displayed a great deal of improvement on the court. Many players contributed a large amount to the team. Judy Cunningham, Tricia Ahearn and Amy Haupt led the girls in blocking many shots. The J.V. team showed a large amount of improvement in their overall skills. They were competitive and gained the needed experience for Varsity sports next year.

Varsity and J.V. Wrestling Teams Show Great Future Promise

With nine returning wrestlers, this year's Varsity wrestling team promised to be a great one. Senior Paul Gallahan returned to wrestler his fourth straight season. Other wrestlers with three or more years on the varsity squad included: Carl Miller, Bill Christie, John Miller, Chuck Collier, and Chris Runzo. Fine performances were turned in by Lee Rudacille, Jay Sanders, Robert Epling, and Ron Meadows. The experience this team had was a great asset to its fine record.

Coaches Steve Wilcox and Alan Thompson have produced fine wrestlers, as always. It is certain that these coaches will continue to provide an excellent team in the years to come.

The J.V. wrestling team was extremely large this year. Many sophomores participated this year and their record was very impressive. Paul Henderson, Burke Buckhorn and Stan Meadows competed in dual meets and added victories nearly every time. Other J.V. wrestlers included Tim Mould, David Yeakel and David Canody.

The freshmen on the team also contributed to make the Jags victorious. Dave Green, Aubrey Dawkins and Greg Vandevender were a few of the Baby Jag wrestlers.

Next year should be a good year for J.V. and Freshman wrestling. With many wrestlers returning, it is assured that the Jaguars will once again be victorious.

Swim and Dive Team Excells

The Falls Church Swim team has had a good season this year compared to past years. Although only two meets were won, the scores were much closer than ever before. Many swimmers improved over the summer, and their times showed it. Outstanding swimmers were Vanessa Richey, Stacey Gibbons, Liri Barzdukas, Ann Cavazos, Ted Keisler and Mike Lusick, Andy LaRow, and Hugh Seeley. Several records were broken by these swimmers. New meet captains each week brought new unity to the team. The purchase of team shirts, and the yelling of cheers brought spirit to the team and helped to get the members psyched up for the meets. Pe talks from Coach Mrs. McKinstry (Tisch) helped the swimmers prepare for the evening meets. The swim team started off the season with a relay carnival, in which they placed fourth in the district. The practices approximately four times a week helped keep the swimmers in shape. Most of the meets were held at Wakefield Park recreation Center where practice was held, or at Wakefield High School in Arlington. Several swimmers competed in the state meet held on February 14 and the regional meet held on the 21st. These swimmers did an outstanding job, and won several titles.

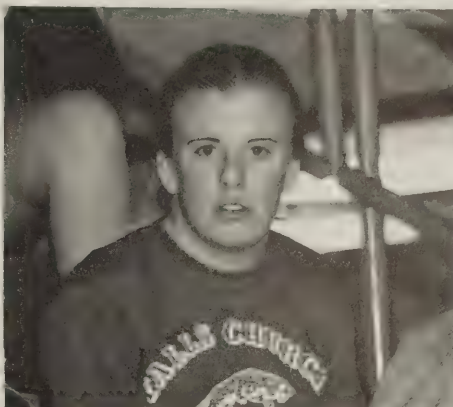

The Jaguar dive team also had an improved season. Girls Libby Smith and Barbara Rawers won most of the diving meets. James Reed, Dan Cox, and Jeff Williams showed off their summer improvement as they placed highly in their meets. The divers had to be especially skilled as their meets were held at the guns were blasting from the swim meets. With only two seniors on the swim and dive team, an even better record next year is guaranteed.

Track Team Has Advantage Of Superb Runners

The track team had a good record. This year's team was full of experience, and many talented runners. Seniors Tim Evans, Tim Dolan, Abas Adenan, and Ann Fontaine led the team. Juniors Pete Boyer, Mike Lusick, Charlie Stubin, and Lisa Dolan added their strength to produce a winning team.

On the other side of the team, high jumper Steve Clarke had an excellent season. He broke the school record with a jump of six feet and one inch.

All in all, the team had an excellent season. Losing only a few seniors to graduation, next year's team should be strong, with plenty of reasons for another winning season.

Varsity and JV Softball Teams Succeed

The girls Varsity softball team was harshly impaired by the inexperience of its members. The team was led by the three returning seniors Maria Lusick, Theresa Tribble, and Linda Googins. The batting strength of these girls helped boost the team in their attempts for victory. The major problem of the team was its fielding, which was interfered with by too many errors, overthrows, and other mistakes. The players tried hard although they could not get their techniques combined to produce a winning team.

The Junior Varsity team did well as they scored home run after home run. With the hitting of sophomore Margaret Lusick, the team finished with a good record as well as much hope for the future Varsity team.

Chuck Miller and Sam Green practice very hard for a future Falls Church victory over a rival opponent.

Varsity Team Builds for The Future

The Varsity baseball team did a fine job this year. Coach McCulloch's team was comprised of many young students in order to build for the future. Although the players were young, they were not lacking in experience. The three seniors Rich Saveur, Robbie McKeever and Sam Green led the team to their victories. The batting and fielding of the boys showed the extreme effort and work they put into their games. Long hours of practice and good coaching helped the team tremendously. The underclass players from this year will make an excellent backbone for next year's team, which will be a promising group.

JV Baseball Learns the Way

The boys Junior Varsity baseball team tried hard to learn the ways of a winning team. Most of the players were young and were experiencing their first year on a high school baseball team. They were able to pull everything together to play well under pressure. There were a few weaknesses of the team which set them back at times, but their strengths prevailed and led them to many points. Their hours playing on the practice field helped to prepare the team for their long matches in the hot sun. The boys managed to gain lots of experience which will help them to play better baseball for Falls Church in the years to come when they are Varsity material.

Tennis Team Beats the Odds And Succeeds

The tennis team held many practices in the cold, windy weather. The players all dedicated themselves to the sport and did not let the weather get to them. With top players Frank Ponton, Naren Tayal and Reese Puckett, the team put forth a great effort to make this season their best. Only a few players will be graduating this year. With this in mind, Falls Church can be expected to improve for next year's season and has a chance at being a top district contender.

Girls Soccer Teams Strive For Improvement And Experience

The girls varsity soccer team is made up of a majority of underclassmen, like most of the spring teams this year. The idea was to build for the future, and that is exactly what was done. The girls obtained quite a bit of experience as they played fiercely. The team had a lot of individual experience, most of the girls had the skills required to be winners. It took many days of hard practices to get the team to work together. Eventually the team became a cooperative group of excellent players.

The junior varsity team put in their share of work to become improved in their skills and techniques. The girls were taught what they needed to know to be ready for varsity team playing. They had a good season and will be ready for next year as they play on varsity.

Varsity and J.V. Boys Soccer Teams Prove Strong

The boys Varsity soccer team started the year with many returning players. Losing only a few of last year's players to graduation, the team was familiar and comfortable with each other. The boys worked hard and resulted in an organized impressive team. Consistency was the key to their victories as some of the players were returning for their third and fourth years. With the experience of this team, they had the perfect chance to become winners.

The Junior Varsity team consisted of many new players. They worked hard to develop their techniques efficiently. The season was spent learning more about the game and the skills required to produce a strong team. With all the knowledge gained in this practice year, the boys should be ready to play varsity next year.

Campbell Sites Changes in F.C.

Over the thirty years that Mr. Bruce Campbell has been a teacher here at Falls Church, he has witnessed many changes in the school and its students.

Q: How have student attitudes changed over the past 30 years? Have they changed for the better or worse?

A: They changed in the 60's toward becoming less responsible and students had a lack of respect for the school, teachers, and themselves. This change began to swing the other way in the middle 70's so that students today are not much different than in the 50's.

Q: How is the administration different?

A: There are more administrators now and the administration is a little more permissive than thirty years ago.

Q: Do you feel that the variety of courses offered has changed since you were a high school student?

A: Yes, there is more of a variety of courses offered now. This is good because it meets the needs of a more diversified society of students.

Q: Do you feel the computerization of school records is too impersonal?

A: It is more efficient but it does take something away from the personal feeling you have by filling our report cards and personal records by hand.

Q: In your opinion, is the present grading fair?

A: Teachers have a great deal of discretion in grading, so I think it is fair. However, I would like to see it change to become more like colleges.

Q: Do you feel that the transition from the old Falls Church to the new building had an effect on the students?

A: The better and much larger building was a great improvement for both teachers and students and all adapted well.

Q: Please relate your most memorable experience with a student.

A: There have been many and I really couldn't pick one over another. Ninety percent of my experiences with students have been pleasant.

Math Department Chairman, Mr. R.S. "Whammo" Newsome, executes his duties (right).

In his 30 years as a Falls Church teacher, Mr. Bruce Campbell has taught Chemistry I (above) and currently instructs his students in Algebra II and General Mathematics.

Band Director Is FC Graduate

Ms. Ruth Suddarth, the new assistant and director was, interestingly enough, a graduate of Falls Church in 1972. She feels that the student body hasn't really changed that much in comparison to the class she graduated with. Another interesting fact is that Dr. Wilson was Principal here her senior year. Ms. Suddarth is pleased with the fact that she has more freedom to teach than the teachers she had while in high school. Music allows more freedom.

Ms. Suddarth feels that student morals haven't really changed much since she was here, the only difference is in the size of the groups representing these morals. She has noticed a decline in the number of students who are working toward a goal of college and hopes that those who are not doing so will soon realize that the faculty and administrators are here to help them.

Look How We've Changed

Tait Added As New Assistant

The teachers and students found yet another new face at the beginning of the school year. Mr. Martain Tait had signed on as the new Assistant Principal, replacing Mr. Stepp. Everyone seemed to adjust quickly to Mr. Tait and he soon became acquainted with the students and teachers and accustomed to the everyday routine at Falls Church.

The new Assistant Principal, Mr. Tait (left), replaced Mr. Stepp (above) at the beginning of the year. Mr. Stepp, back for a visit, is now principal at West Springfield.

His Dedication & Involvement Are Unending

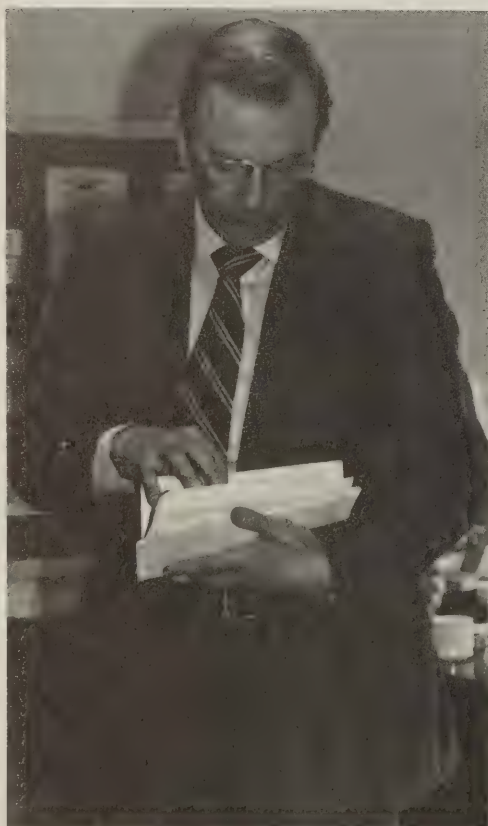

During the past eight years, this remarkable man has done everything possible at Falls Church High School. From attending athletic contests to band and choral contests, he has enthusiastically supported the high school in most of its endeavors. He has even gone as far as to make special arrangements to attend school assemblies and pep rallies. This man was present at many of the athletic events, both home and away.

He is a graduate of East Texas State University, from which he holds a Ph.D and a Master's degree in sociology/speech. In his spare time he enjoys farming, motorcycles, and playing the guitar.

This man is undoubtedly our principal, Dr. James Wilson.

Dr. Wilson prepares himself for the many papers he will have to sign.

Hoping to find a fan letter, Dr. Wilson goes through the daily mail.

One of the many jobs Dr. Wilson has to perform is showing around guests of the school.

Additions to Administration

This year saw two additions to the administration. One was Mr. Martin Tait, who replaced Mr. George Stepp as assistant principal. Mr. Tait elected to become an administrator because he wanted to work closer with teachers and students. Mr. Tait feels that the publicity given to Falls Church is quite upsetting. His main goal this year is to get to know both the faculty and the students better. When Mr. Tait is not in school, he enjoys watching his five children perform in sports and drama.

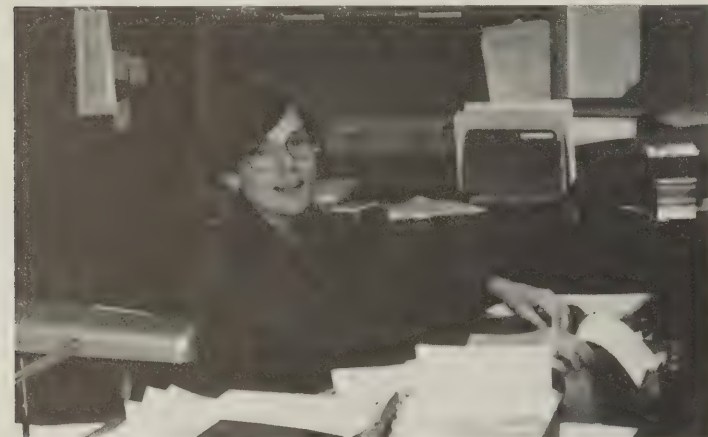

The second addition was Mr. Jack Gardener. While most administrators used to be teachers, this was not the case with Mr. Gardener. He is a retired sergeant of the Fairfax County Police, where he served twenty four years. He became an Administrator because he was interested in working with young people. He came to Falls Church because he liked both the faculty and the students. His main goals for the year are to try to establish a good relationship with students and teachers, to work with students to help make our school better, and lastly to stop vandalism and truancy. When not at school Mr. Gardener enjoys sports of all kinds, going to the beach, and taking vacations to other countries.

Finance officer, Mrs. Logan, spends many hours: auditing the school's books, writing out checks, and counting an endless amount of bills.

Eleventh and twelfth grade center secretary, Mrs. Thomas starts her ritual of typing the student absentee list.

Main office secretary, Mrs. Blycher, spends endless hours answering telephones and connecting the callers with the appropriate grade center.

Ninth and tenth grade center secretary, Mrs. Mares, takes time out from a long day of writing out passes for students, to chat with a pupil waiting to see his counselor.

Data processor in A.D.P., Mrs. Meadows takes a break after working diligently on students' report cards.

Dr. Wilson's secretary, Mrs. Timian, goes over the massive paperwork which has accumulated over another long day.

Mr. Flannagan's secretary, Mrs. Gavin, looks forward to the end of the day when she can just leave her work behind and go home.

A Closer Look At The Falls Church Secretaries

The most unrecognised group of people at Falls Church High is the secretary staff. These people are: Mrs. Timian, Mrs. Blycher, Mrs. Meadows, Mr. Mares, Mrs. Gavin, Mrs. Logan, Mrs. Thomas, and Mrs. Craver.

Mrs. Jane Timian, Dr. Wilson's secretary, has been here for four years. Even though she has had many other jobs, including a teacher, a child care administrator, a crafts instructor, and a mother, she enjoys being a secretary. She feels variety is the spice of life. Her main goal this year is to make sure all the papers flow on time and in the right direction.

She also hopes to keep the atmosphere in the main office as pleasant and as low-keyed as possible. Like everyone, Mrs. Timian likes to spend time away from her job. In her spare time, she likes cooking, collecting recipes, needlepoint, sewing, all types of craft projects, collecting antiques, and reading. In a couple of years, after her sons have graduated from college, Mrs. Timian and her husband plan on retiring to a small farm in Indiana and spending a lot of time and effort renovating a 110 year old brick farmhouse.

Mrs. Susan Gavin, another staff member, is a newcomer to Falls Church High School. She took over the position Mrs. Brandt had last year: secretary to Mr. Flannagan. Along with being a secretary, Mrs. Gavin is the sponsor of the Keyettes. Mrs. Gavin enjoys her work here, especially working with students. Mrs. Gavin came to us from the Area II Administration Office. She likes it here better because there was no student contact at the Area II Office — just a lot of parent contact — which she felt was rather repetitious. Mrs. Gavin's main goal this year is a simple one: to learn the names of most of the teachers!

New Guidance Additions Bring Needed Answers

This year's guidance has gained two new and valuable counselors, Mrs. Runzo and Miss Wilson. Along with our already excellent staff, these ladies are doing an outstanding job working with the students and answering numerous questions. Both ladies enjoy working with people — especially students — and are very friendly. Miss Wilson enjoys many hobbies such as: plants, jogging, ceramics, and macrame. She was once a computer programmer, and if she had not become a counselor, she would have probably been a social worker. Mrs. Runzo likes to cook and she enjoys reading. She has a rich background in jobs dealing with people.

Our veteran counselors are: Mr. Wilson, Mrs. Doff, Mrs. Bruck, Ms. Forney, and Mr. Kilbourne. These counselors continue their excellent work. They are a major part of our school's success.

The other of the two ninth and twelfth grade counselors, Ms. Forney, rests momentarily before returning to the many senior recommendations she has to fill out before college deadlines take place this winter.

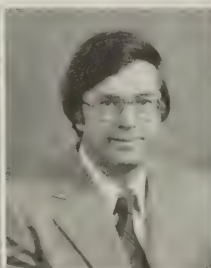

Eleventh grade counselor, Mrs. Doff, works up schedules for students who want to prepare for the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Tests and the Scholastic Aptitude Tests.

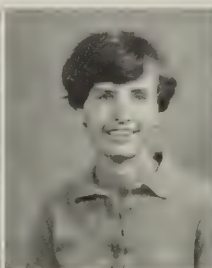

Ninth grade counselor, Mr. Kilbourne, does his part by giving a helping hand to a confused freshmen on Freshman Orientation Day this past fall.

Andrew Pick Picked as New Teacher

This is Mr. Pick's first year here. He attended New York State University as an undergraduate. He received his B.S. at Oswego College, his Masters at Stony Brook State University, and his Administration degree at Long Island University. He sees Falls Church students having more school spirit than New York students. He became a teacher because, "I enjoy working with and guiding young adults in preparation for their post high school days — their future." His first impression of Falls Church was that of friendliness and he says he is happy here. He comments that the staff has been very helpful, something that is important for a new teacher.

“We Are The Best”

Mrs. Corbin, the sponsor of the TABS and the science fair, enjoys growing flowers, visiting her country home, reading scientific journals, philosophy, and wondering how her students are doing in college. Mrs. Corbin really enjoys working here and likes very much both the students and the faculty. She comments, “I am biased, I think we are the best school in the county. Our students follow instructions and the colleges enjoy having them because of their fine attitude.” Mrs. Corbin received her degrees from the University of Virginia, Madison University, American University, University of Maryland, and George Mason University. When she retires, she plans on having an antique and glass shop in West Virginia. Mrs. Corbin’s main goal this year is to get her students to think. “They often don’t realize how capable they are.”

Biology II teacher, Mrs. Canzano, shows some of the chemicals needed in the class’ next experiment.

Astronomy teacher, Mr. Purinton, stands near one of the instruments which is found in the planetarium.

Biology teacher, Mrs. Billie Abell, discusses the frogs which are dissected every year by the Biology classes.

Earth Science teacher, Mrs. Jane MacDuff, shows off one of the quarterly projects done by her students.

Spanish teacher, Mr. Hayden tries to decipher some of the test answers his students try to pass off as the correct form of a verb.

Level I and II Spanish teacher, Ms. FitzGerald goes over the reading material which she has to try to cover during her class.

Latin teacher, Mrs. Welch tries to explain to one of her many students how Latin can be good for someone in the future.

Diverse Foreign Languages Add Culture to F.C.

Our foreign language department consists of one Latin teacher, one German teacher, two French teachers, and two Spanish teachers. Mr. Willaim Hayden has been teaching Spanish at F.C.H.S. for ten years. Mr. Hayden decided to become a teacher because he enjoys working with young people. He majored in Spanish because he enjoys the language and communicating with people who have different cultural backgrounds. Señor Hayden first got into counseling with the idea of working with students from an outside the classroom approach. His goal this year is to help his students to better understand the Spanish language and to have a better appreciation of the language, the people, and the culture. Mr. Hayden coaches the boy's tennis team.

Ms. Nancy FitzGerald has been teaching Spanish here for 3 years. Ms. FitzGerald decided to major in Spanish because she has always enjoyed and been interested in Spanish and the Spanish people and customs. Her goal this year is to instill in her students a love and some knowledge of the Spanish speaking world Ms. FitzGerald sponsors the Sociedad Española Honorario.

Ms. Deborah Corkey has been teaching at F.C.H.S. since 1975. Ms. Corkey has a double major in French and International Relations. She decided to major in these because she enjoys history, current events, and foreign language. Ms. Corkey sponsors the French Honor Society.

French teacher, Mrs. Young cracks a smile at the photographer before returning to the many papers and tests she needs to grade before the next day's classes.

Newsome Is Happy To Be Here at FC

This is Mr. Newsome's 12th year here and he teaches Calculus BC, Trig./Functions, Alg. II/Trig., and Consumer Math. Mr. Newsome earned his degrees B.S. and M.S. at Ohio State University and American University. Mr. Newsome sponsors the Varsity Math Team and the Va. State Math contest. When Mr. Newsome isn't teaching, sponsoring, or grading, he likes to play the piano, sing, read, fish, jog, go to plays, concerts, and movies. He finds this school, his job, and being a part of it interesting. He enjoys working with young people and likes the good working relationship within the math department staff. He feels that overall it is a fine school and that he never wanted to teach anywhere else. When asked if he ever wanted to be an administrator, his reply was a definite no! He says, "Who needs all that hassle?" His main goal this year is to make the courses as pleasant as possible for the students and hopes the students will work to the best of their ability. If ever Mr. Newsome should leave teaching, he would probably become a Geodetic, and most likely for the Federal Government. He might also go into the computer field when and if he ever retires. All in all he says he is very happy here and probably won't be leaving soon.

Algebra teacher, Mr. Arthur Lillevig, heads home after another hectic day of teaching.

Mr. Newsome's second period class was given a chance to pilot a new trigonometry book, which proved to be a very good learning experience for all his students.

Showing her talents, Mrs. Jones demonstrates the right way to use the ditto machine in the lounge.

Comeau Credit to Her Profession

Ms. Comeau, the sponsor of our Junior Varsity Math Team, has taught at Falls Church High School for twelve eventful years. Ms. Comeau worked for her degree at Trinity College. She says she enjoys doing anything except grade papers. She likes to read, do crossword puzzles, and play the piano. Becoming a teacher wasn't anything new for her. She has always wanted to be one, ever since elementary school. Needless to say, she is an excellent teacher and a credit to her profession and community. If she had not become a teacher, she would have gone to Medical school. She would have specialized in pediatrics.

attended had a full enrollment of about 200. The class she graduated with had about 50 seniors. She says the differences are enormous between her school and FC and much too enomorate, much less describe. Ms. Comeau enjoys the students here at Falls Church. She comments that they have a wide range of ability and attitude. About the faculty, Ms. Comeau comments, "The teachers at Falls Church High School are an excellent group of people to work with", a comment many other teachers and students feel to be true also. We are all certainly glad she chose the profession she did.

Mr. Morris teaches Global Studies and World History. He has worked here for five years and attended Shepherd College, George Mason University, and received his degree at George Mason University. When he is away from school, he enjoys being with his family, coaching, and working with the community. When he retires he would like very much to work with children in summer camps or do social work. Mr. Morris' main goal this year is to give his students some basic knowledge of world history and where the U.S. stands.

Wilcox Takes Time To Get Involved

Mr. Wilcox, who sponsors the Sophomore class and is head wrestling coach, has worked here for nine years. In his time off, he enjoys traveling, reading, backpacking, mountain climbing, farming, throwing pots, running, being with his family, and going to plays. When asked what he will do when he stops teaching, he replied, "All the things I haven't done for the past nine years." Mr. Wilcox's main goal this year is to help develop his students' emotional and psychomotor growth. Mr. Wilcox enjoys working with young people and is happy here "most of the time!" He places the faculty in two categories, "Some are really concerned about their students and the others should have resigned years ago." When he was asked whether he thought school policy was too strict he replied, "There is a lack of self-discipline in all of society."

Ms. Karen Syvrud is a ninth grade English and Global Studies teacher. She received her BA from William and Mary and her MA from the University of Virginia. Ms. Syvrud has been teaching here for six years and feels the students here are quite involved with the school and have a lot of spirit. She became a teacher because it was something she always wanted to do. In her free time she likes to play tennis and jog.

Ms. Judith Guryansky became an English teacher because of her humanitarian ideals. She has had several other jobs which included clerical, secretarial, and editorial work. Ms. Guryansky's hobbies are sewing, music, sports, and crafts. She feels the teachers here are caring, generous, and dynamic.

English Teacher Tries to Survive

Robert Edward Margrave received his Bachelor of Arts in English from William and Mary. He majored in English because it was the only subject he could stand to take that many courses in! He feels students at Falls Church are less socially conscious and more self-satisfied than the students were when he was in high school. Although he is happy working here, he has had a few unpleasant experiences, such as when a summer school student threatened to kill him. His goals this year, are to survive through his classes along with his Literary Magazine staff. He plans on continuing his career as a teacher until he dies. When he is not working, Mr. Margrave is mainly concerned with his favorite hobbies: sleeping, reading, and dating Linda Ronstadt.

Teachers Strive To Help Students

Mrs. Randi Haupt has been here for two years. She is one of the sponsors of the yearbook and she feels the school is a nice and friendly place to work. If she hadn't chosen teaching as her career, she might have been an archeaologist or a biologist. Mrs. Haupt teaches PLP and her goal for this year is to develop a good relationship with her students and she hopes some of them will acquire a taste for reading and become more successful readers.

Mrs. JoAnn Gadkowski has also been here for two years. She is the other yearbook sponsor and she is also the co-sponsor of the cheerleaders. She feels that Falls Church is the best school she has ever taught at. Mrs. Gadkowski's goal for this year is to help students enjoy reading as well as school. We would like to congratulate Mrs. Gadkowski and her husband on the birth (or near birth) of their first child.

Teacher Enjoys Students and FC

Mr. Beto attended Salem College, UVA, William and Mary, Ohio Western, and VPI. He sponsors football, baseball, VICA, and ICT. Mr. Beto has been teaching here for nine years and says that FC is a great place to teach and coach at. He enjoys working with both the students and the faculty and states, "We all work together toward the same goal." His main goal this year is "to get his students prepared for the world out there, (so they won't feel like strangers when they are on their own), decisions that will help them or hinder them, and also to respect other people." He says he is very happy here although he does not think our policies are strict enough. His first impression of our school was that 99% of the students want to learn and want help. He believes all schools are basically the same, it is what the teacher makes of it. "It is all in your attitude, what a school is like, and what the students are like."

Ms. Polk has held other jobs which included: a summer camp counselor, an office worker, a secretary, and last but not least — a mother. When she is not in school or dreaming up assignments, she likes to swim. She really likes all sports, participating and spectating. She sponsors the FBLA and she also coaches girls' junior varsity softball. Ms. Polk says she likes it here, that the faculty is friendly and the students are well-mannered and interesting. She likes to help her students in whatever she can do to prepare them for living in today's world — both as a wage earner and as humans.

Walecka Happy With Work As Falls Church Library Asst.

This is Elizabeth Walecka's fifth year here at F.C. as assistant librarian. She became a librarian because of a terrific teacher she had had and wanted to be just like her. If she had not chosen her present line of work, she feels she might have been a nurse. When she is not at school, Ms. Walecka enjoys reading, swimming, and taking care of her family and home. When she leaves teaching, she plans on retiring and perhaps try some volunteer work and hopefully do some traveling. Ms. Walecka's two main goals for this year are to be as helpful as possible to all teachers and students who need help in the library — with books and A.V. material and the other is to do the small projects that need completing — like bringing the card catalog up to date. When asked if she'd ever want to be an administrator, she answered that she was very happy doing what she was doing.

Mike Layland Feels F.C. Band Inspires Minds

This is Mike Layland's first year teaching at Falls Church High. After graduating from Falls Church, he went to the University of Tennessee-Knoxville. Mr. Layland became a teacher because he wanted to be part of instilling young people's minds and he felt music gave this to them. He was also quite active in the band in both high school and college. When the pressures start to get to him, he starts wondering what he might have done if he hadn't become a teacher and after a lot of deliberation he really cannot see himself doing anything other than teaching kids music. He hopes it will always be that way. When asked what his main goal was, he felt it was going to be hard to keep this question short because there were so many things he wanted to see happen with the band. After thinking, he feels his main goal is to establish sound objectives so that everyone benefits musically as well as feel a sense of unity and pride within the group. In his free time, Mr. Layland enjoys going to Landover to watch the Capitals play hockey. He enjoys concerts and he feels nobody gets more use out of their television set than he does.

Gym Teachers Act as Coaches

Coach Patrick Dolan has been teaching at Falls Church for three years. Besides teaching ninth and tenth grade physical education and health, Mr. Dolan coaches both varsity basketball and golf. Coach Dolan enjoys playing golf, cooking, and just plain relaxing. Mr. Dolan feels that Falls Church High School is a good school because there are teachers and administrators who sincerely care about the growth and welfare of the student body. Even though Coach Dolan enjoys teaching, he would not mind being an administrator. He would like the challenge. Coach Dolan's goals for this year are to teach effectively and to simply survive.

Physical education teacher, Ms. Sandra Reynolds has been here for ten years. After attending Campbell College, Ms. Reynolds came to Falls Church to begin her teaching career. She decided to become a teacher because she likes to teach kids "how to play." Besides teaching Ms. Reynolds also coaches varsity hockey, varsity basketball, and varsity softball. When Ms. Reynolds finds some spare time after teaching and coaching, she likes fixing up her house and playing softball. Ms. Reynolds' goal for the year is to make the year go as smoothly as possible and as prosperous as can be. When Ms. Reynolds retires, not that she is planning to in the near future, she plans on traveling and doing some relaxing.

Mr. Mosser became a teacher because it was the thing to do. If he had not become a teacher, he probably would have been an Electronics Engineer. When Mr. Mosser isn't at school or grading projects, he likes flying his airplane, making money, and collecting records. Mr. Mosser has worked here for 12 years and comments, "It's the best school around." He received his degree from California State College. He decided to teach electronics because he was interested in it. He majored in mathematics. He never had a class in Electronics in his life prior to teaching it. ## Without Them We'd Be Under Attack

Students at Falls Church owe a lot to this year's cafeteria staff. They are the hard working individuals who spend their morning conjuring up mouth watering dishes for lunch. Besides the regular lunch lines, the hot dog and hamburgers line, and the a la carte line, the staff added a new dimension to their menu-a-do-it-yourself salad bar. It is here where students may pile up the cucumbers, carrots, radishes or cheese on top of fresh lettuce and top it all with their favorite dressing. It is the super staff which is responsible for this. Without them 2000 peanut butter and jelly sandwiches would invade the halls each morning, hide out in lockers in inconspicuous brown bags, and await the ringing of the lunch bell.

In the hot lunch line, a member of the staff is appalled by a students comment on the price increase of lunches.

Another diligent member of the staff prepares french fries for awaiting students.

A long line of students wait in the a la carte line, which has become quite popular.

The Cafeteria staff members hurry around to give out the day's lunch to hungry students awaiting their meal (left).

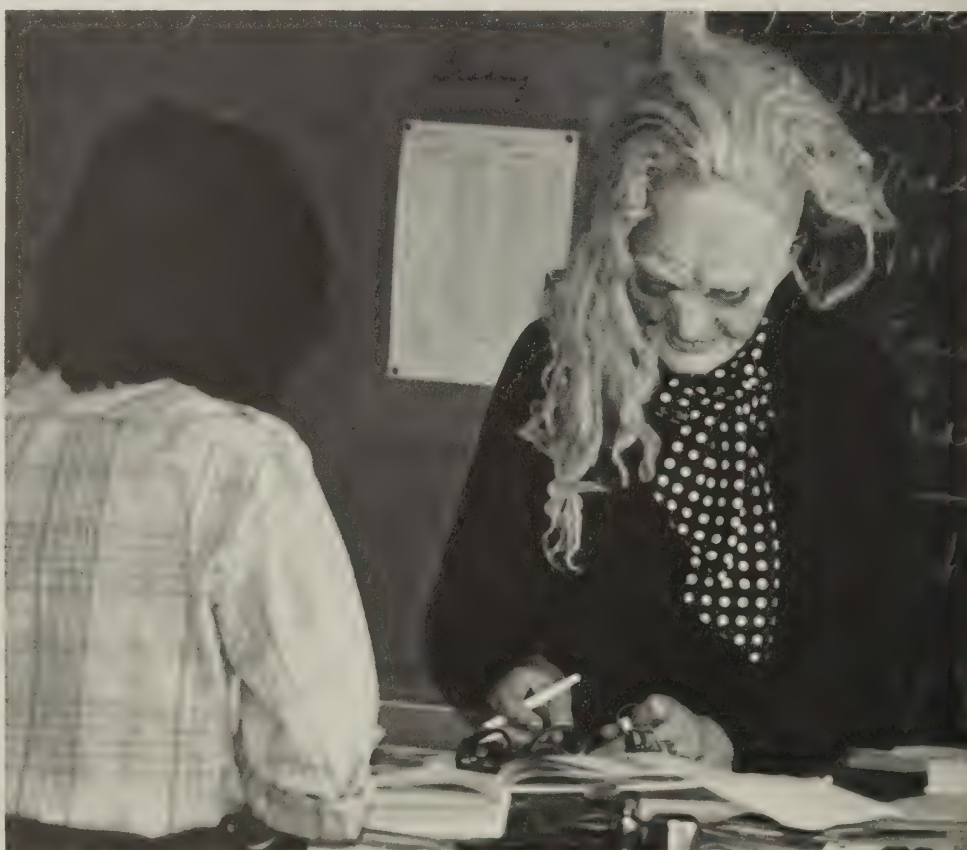

Can you guess who this is?

The Ugly Teacher Contest a Success For the March Of Dimes Campaign

Halloween gives people a chance to express their true personality in several different ways. The FBLA, through their "Ugly Teacher Day" provided teachers with an opportunity to express their hidden creativity by dressing up in their favorite costumes. "Ugly Teacher Day" has been a tradition here for several years. Teachers show up dressed to scare or entertain students. Although many administrators do not participate, they feel that since the day's activities do succeed in raising money for the March of Dimes, that it is a worthy endeavor. For those staff members willing to participate in the day's activities, a contest is held. Students donate money to teachers with the ugliest costumes. At the end of the day, the money is counted. The teacher having the most money wins and is named the "ugly teacher".

Bozo the clown looklike, Mrs. Caryln Elder, tries to keep a straight face for the camera.

With a wig and mask, a very unrecognizable Mrs. Betty Havard goes over a student's assignment.

The Falls Church mummy, Ms. Bernice Polk, goes over the worksheets she assigned to her General Business class.

After entering the bond of holy matrimony, the blessed couple made it to Falls Church High in time for the contest.

Munching on a little lunch, Mrs. Judy Oglesby, alias Miss Piggy, takes time out from collecting money to eat, before going on to win first place in the contest

Before falling apart at the seams, Mr. Thorpe collects $38.51, making him the second place winner in the annual contest.

Look How We've Changed

Four Years Full

Four hard years are almost over. The Class of 1981 has seen and will see many changes. A major change has concerned graduation. Due to unusual circumstances, this year's Senior class will be graduating at six-thirty on a Wednesday evening. This year has also been a year for course changes that have directly affected Seniors. Humanities, a course, that, for many years, was taught by Mr. Dowell and Mrs. Fitzgerald, this year was taught by two different teachers. There was also the addition of an Advance Placement English class for Seniors, and Falls Church received a new government teacher in the middle of the year. Over the past four years, this class has been subject to such things as changes in the grading scale and attendance policy. Members of the Class of '81 adjusted to all of the changes and are now preparing for their futures.

Officers of Senior Class Make Impression

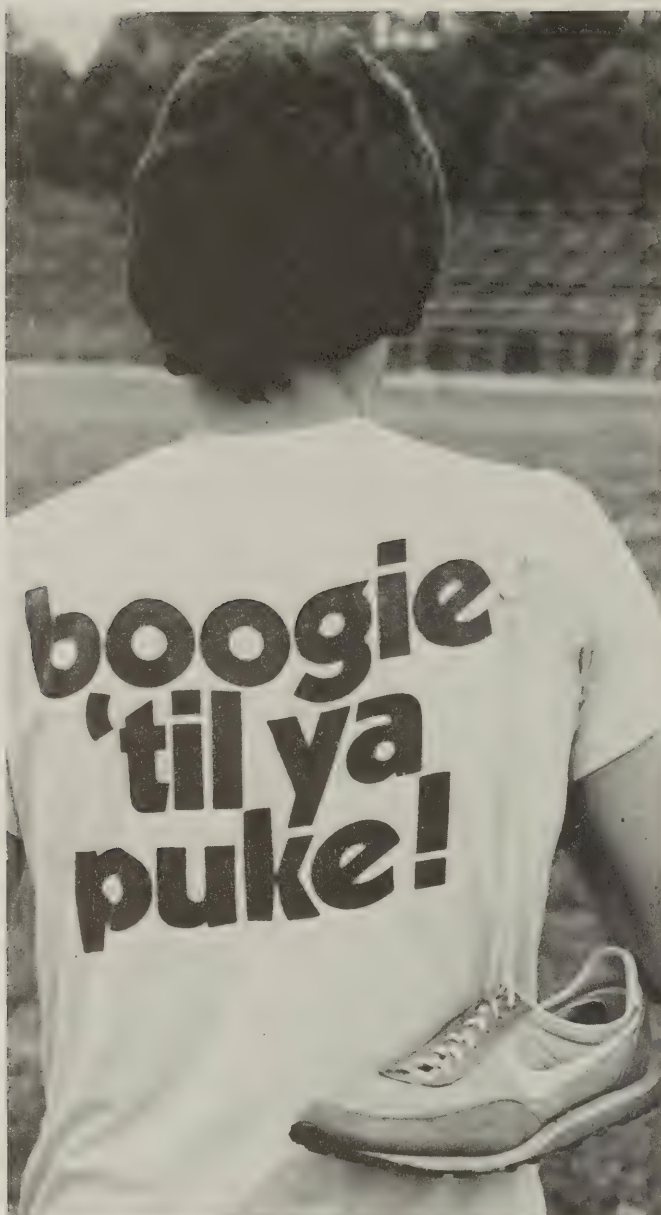

The class of 1981 worked industriously to make their senior year the best. They had a dance to raise money for the senior gift and other things they wanted for their class. They planned for their graduation and tried to accomplish everything they wanted to complete before they left the school.

The whole class filled their years here with events to be remembered. They left the underclassmen with happy memories of them and their silly antics. This class consisted of all types of people, from intellectuals to athletes. Richard Powell will be long remembered for his version of the morning announcements and Aaron Brown for his versions of everything. Johnna Richard and Meryl Baier filled the school with friendliness while Jim Cox led them all in their work for Student Government. The memories of this class will be cherished forever.

Senior Class Superlatives Show Superior School Spirit

Many members of the senior class showed outstanding qualities in various aspects of school activities. Falls Church High School has contributed greatly to the academic improvement of the student body throughout the years. The school has also housed some of the most spirited and outgoing students.

Members of the student body showed their enthusiasm in various ways. During school, the upperclassmen livened up the pep rallies, repeatedly winning the spirit stick and competition cheers. The Senior hall won first prize with the slogan "Let's Create Atomic Waste" and their massive monster also took first saying "Nessie Says Loch 'Em Up." The use of pep buses began and sock-hops were well attended.

Seniors participated actively in all aspects of student life and school related activities.

Cutest Couple: Anne Schroeder and Shaun Shifflett

Most Likely To Succeed: Richard Powell and Ann Cavazos

Best Dressed: George Small and Ellen Watson

Biggest Flirt: Karol Ponton and David Buchanan

UNDERCLASSMEN

The change of administrations gave the Sophomores in Contemporary Studies classes a chance to learn more about election processes.

Underclassmen Adjusting to New Changes

Underclassmen face constant changes. Each year they must adjust to starting new classes, with new teachers, who seem to take so long to learn everyone's name.

A new Freshmen class arrives and upperclassmen learn to cope with giving the same directions over and over again. Of course, there are always a few Seniors who take delight in pointing unsuspecting Freshmen, who are trying to find the gym, in the direction of the library.

Then there are the Sophomores. Driver Education. Behind-the-Wheel. Usually loudest at pep rallies. Geometry. Biology. Football games. Very school spirited.

The Junior class is more sophisticated. In their third year, they look forward to such things as getting their class rings, giving the Junior-Senior Prom, and ultimately — becoming Seniors.

Displaying her abilities, Becky Little (right) shows what she has learned in Freshman English.

Look How We've Changed

The Freshman class will no doubt see many changes in their four years as part of the student body of Falls Church.

Class ring orders are taken. The receiving of class rings is one thing that is looked forward to all year by the Juniors.

Junior Class Officers Play Important Role

The class of '82 began the school year in high spirits. Two nights before Homecoming; however, several unknown vandals burned the float on which the Juniors had worked so hard. Fortunately, no one was hurt, but extensive damage was brought to the trailer the float was seated on. This set-back did not deter the Class of '82 but strengthened and unified the class and its spirit. The individuals who worked on the float were permitted to ride on a truck with the other floats during Homecoming.

As in every year much time was devoted to earning money for the Junior-Senior Prom. The Junior Class had a good portion of their money from fund raisers that they held in previous years. The Class of '82 contributed to the M & M craze by selling boxes of plain and peanut for fifty cents. They also planned to hold a soc hop sometime during the basketball season. In addition to fund raising events they participated in pep rallies and decorated a hall for Pride Week. In November the ordering of Class Rings added to the excitement of the year.

Next year will undoubtedly be another successful one for one of the greatest classes to enter Falls Church High School.

Long Awaited Junior Class Rings Arrive In the Spring

The class rings were finally here. After spending two years in high school, Juniors were at last going to receive the right to show off their class. Fingers were measured and choices were made — type of metal for the band, kind of stone for the center. The stone just had to be dazzling against the eyes, along with the emblem and insignia which had to have that sophisticated touch. Cost was a significant problem. Most of the rings ranged from $60 — $100. Some students found themselves unable to purchase rings at all. The majority of juniors found the tradition well worth the money. What better way was there to show all their friends that they were a devoted Jaguar fan? For the rest of their lives people will see the beautiful rings on the fingers of those dedicated people and know of Falls Church High School. The purchasers know that class rings, as well as diamonds, last forever.

Junior Float Burned

A very unfortunate act of arson destroyed the Junior class Homecoming float. The float, the Cookie Monster, was set on fire the morning of October 2nd, one day before Homecoming. A smoldering mess was the remains of many hours of hard work and effort put forth by the juniors. The spirited students still made it into the Homecoming parade, however. A decorated truck with cheering students showed that the Junior class could withstand anything. This is the second year the class of 1981 has not had a float for Homecoming. However there is always next year to prove that their float-building ability is superior to all other classes.

Multi-talented Junior, Debbie Frenkle, Close Up

Debbie Frenkel is an extremely talented member of the Junior class. She has been doing ballet and jazz dancing for three years. Debbie also takes voice lessons from her mother, who is a professional singer. Last summer Debbie took part in an educational television series and was on a radio program. She is very interested in acting and has performed with the Windhover School for the Performing Arts, N.V.E.T.A. television, and has danced with the Leslie McKennon School of Dance. Debbie performs because she enjoys entertaining people and loves the attention she obtains from her audiences. She is also very involved with the Drama Department at Falls Church and says, "People don't know what they're missing until they get involved in the arts."

Talented Dancer Kellie Mathews

If a person asks Kelly Mathews how she lets our frustrations and expresses her feelings, she would reply, "by dancing." And that is just what she does. Kelly has been dancing classical ballet for nine years. She dances for the Ballet Academy of Northern Virginia. Each June, she participates in a recital and a story ballet in order to "show off" her talent — which she has a lot of. Kelly hopes to expand her knowledge of dance. She wants to become involved in modern and jazz dancing and have a career in dancing. Kelly feels that dancing is a great way of exercising and that "dance is a beautiful form of art"

Junior Class Plans for Prom

The Prom — everyone knows what that is — The big bash at the end of the year that only Juniors and Seniors can attend. Does anyone realize the work it takes to put on a successful Prom? Selecting a hotel with a large enough room and dance floor; searching for the perfect band: should they play disco, rock 'n' roll, jazz or new wave or punk?; choosing a theme; finding decorations; how much money should be spent on this affair? All these decisions and many more kept the Junior class officers busy all year.

Performing Junior Kay Maddux

Kay Maddux hopes everyone at Falls Church remembers her when she is doing "musical comedy" plays on Broadway. This is the goal she is working toward. Kay has been doing tap, ballet and jazz dancing for four years along with one year of singing lessons. She performs because she loves the excitement of being on stage, and loves the work, which she calls fun. Kay practices at the Leslie McKenna Dance Center, and spent four weeks at the Hampton Playhouse in New Hampshire. She has also performed at the Falls Church Community Center in many plays with the Falls Church Drama Department. Kay plans on acting, singing, dancing and becoming famous.

Dynamic Junior Displays Talent

Kelly Cook, a junior at Falls Church, has high goals for her equestrian abilities. She has been riding for eleven years and attending horse shows for the last 3 and a half years. Kelly has trained her second horse, and plans to continue riding throughout college. She has put an extreme amount of time into this hobby in the form of training, riding, feeding and taking care of her horse. Kelly does not plan on having a career in riding. Her goal is to qualify her horse, The Magician, in the International Horse Show at the Capital Centre.

Musical Changes Shaped by Changes in Student Body

Many changes have occurred during the last year. Changes took place in everything imaginable, and music was no exception. The mellow sounds of the 70's went out with the decade. Bands, singers and tastes in music are drastically different than they have been in the past.

Hard rock is taking over for the mellow music we have become accustomed to. Molly Hatchet, Outlaws, Foghat, Rossington Collins Band and AC/DC are some of the most popular groups this year. Styx, Eagles, Fleetwood Mac and other bands such as these are fading from the headlines. Disco is definitely out, as punk takes over and rock rolls into a new wave. Leather jackets, dark glasses, slicked back hair and bandanas decorate the devoted punk fans. Devo, Sex-Pistols and the B-52's have a more distinguished look. Dark suits and dress clothes cover these rockers as safety pins protrude from their cheeks. Sounds of music may have changed, but the listeners haven't. No matter what may come out, radios are still the most important part of a car. Music still provides hours of entertainment and the sound of rock music is rolling heavy in the air.

As the sophomores finish their second year at Falls Church, they have still two more years to go. They are in the stage between "baby jags" and "mighty seniors". At this time, it is important for a class to make its own mark on their school.

The class of 1983 has done a good job of this. President Lisa Dolan and Vice-President Kristy Knott were superior henchmen for this duty. The sophomores earned a lot of money for their treasurer Kathy Goodwin to keep track of. Their ideas and meetings were recorded for later use by secretary Amy Crutchfield. Jose Vivaldi helped out wherever necessary to make the year a little bit smoother.

Together they decorated halls, built floats, had bake sales and produced a lot of spirit during pep rallies. The sophomore class made up a big part of the fabulous Jaguar Marching Band. They proved that with lots of participation in many different activities, a class, neither in the first nor the last years of high school, can still be a class to remember.

Falls Church Sophomore is a Superb Skater

Among the students of Falls Church High School are swimmers, equestrian competitors, go-cart racers, gymnasts, musicians, dancers, and figure skaters. One of these talented people is Diane Giamporcaro. Diane has been skating for nine years and is presently competing in the Junior Ladies category. Individual, competitive figure skating consists of two aspects — compulsory, or school figures and freestyle. There are eight figure skating tests and five freestyle categories in which one may compete. When competing, each skater is judged on their performance of selected figures, as well as, their freestyle program, containing a number of required elements, depending upon the category. Diane has passed her seventh figure skating test and is now working on her eighth. She practices before school, every day, at 6:00 A.M., and although skating is very hard, time consuming work, Diane plans to continue as long as she is able. This practice is very important to Diane because she plans to teach skating and hopes to appear in either Ice Follies or Ice Capades. Thus far, her hard work has paid off. Diane competes approximately five times each year and usually places fairly well. Diane says that she skates because she enjoys skating and the competition and travel associated with it. Diane has competed in Georgia, Delaware, Philadelphia, New York, and, of course, Virginia. Diane's parents totally support their daughter and provide encouragement and reassurance whenever possible.

Test Taking Often a Combined Effort

"Test today." When these words are spoken, 30 students panic. The tension in the air can be cut with a knife. "Help me's" can be heard beneath the silence. As the tests are passed out, students gaze around the room to see who is sitting near them. Everybody joins in union to cheat. Coughs are heard around the room. Tests are dropped on the floor, accidentally, of course. With upperclassmen, more sophisticated methods are used. "Oops, my pencil broke." While walking to the sharpener, furtive glances at others' papers can be a big help. Girls must remove combs from their purses to take glances at their notes. Everybody thinks the same thing. "Boy, am I sneaky!" These are a few of the many methods used to obtain answers to those tough questions. Everybody thinks that they have got it made until they return home and Mom says she received a phone call about the "borrowing" of answers on a recent test. It is then that people decide that studying is the best method of all.

The End of Gym Is Finally Here

With tenth grade comes the last year of required Physical Education. What this really means is the last year of stuffy locker rooms, smelly gym suits and sweaty bodies. No more gym classes unless chosen. No more sit ups, pull ups, fifty yard dashes and six hundreds. It is the end of volleyball bruised heads, baseball sore knees, and laps to run for bad behavior. What a relief! A student can go all day without exercises after this year. Although many athletes may elect to continue with another year of this course, the majority of students don't. Most people enjoy the sight of the gym suit in the trashcan, where many people feel it belongs in the first place.

Sophomore "Drive" for Independence Begins.

During their sophomore year, students are hit by a driving urge to do something and go somewhere on their own. There are two necessities in order to do this. The car can be obtained from the parents. There is always a family car not in use at some time of the day. It may not be the latest model sportscar, but if it has wheels it will get a person where he wants to go. For the luckier student, a terrific sweet sixteen present is one's own wheels. The driver's license is an important factor here, since a car can not be used without one.

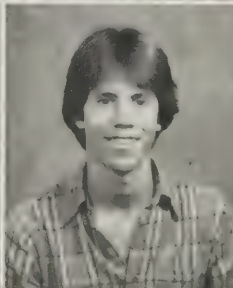

The P.E. classes help out by having one quarter of Driver's Education Class. In this room students see films, gory movies, and are taught the do's and don'ts of driving, largely by scare tactics. The Behind-the-Wheel Driver Training provides practice in maneuvering cars and actual road experience. When both of these requirements are fulfilled, the trip to the local Division of Motor Vehicles is taken. After a quick drive with a strict judge of driving ability, a person can walk out with his license in hand, independence in mind and prepared to wheedle the car out of Mom.

Students Prepare for Competency Exams

A student can not graduate from Falls Church without being competent in the basic areas of life. These are: functional literacy, mathematics, social studies and job entry skills. These tests were given in the Spring to Sophomores. From those who passed, many comments were heard. "That was a breeze." "Eeeeeeeasy!" "I could have taken that with my eyes closed; it was sooo stupid." There are those who were happy they passed. "Wow! Am I relieved! I am competent." "Gosh, will Mom and Dad be proud of me." And, of course, there are the less fortunate students. "1776, 1812. How should I know what happened then? I wasn't even alive?" "What's economy?" "Doesn't Carter make underwear?" These people will be seeing this test again. And again. And again until they pass. So the teachers will use their knowledge and help those who need it until every last person becomes "competent" enough to graduate from high school.

Sophomore Twirls Baton

"Miss Mid-America" is Gloria Barton, an active member of the Sophomore Class at Falls Church. She earned this title in a pageant for baton twirlers across the country. She has won the Virginia State Baton Championship for the last seven years and attended Nationals six times.

Gloria has been twirling for nine years. She has mastered up to three batons at one time and includes gymnastics in her routines. Fire batons, glowing batons, and flags are also used. Gloria spends two to six hours a day practicing her twirling. Gloria has won approximately 230 trophies and 200 medals for her efforts. This year, she qualified to compete for the World Team. Her goals are to make the World Team and to possibly be in the Olympics.

Freshman Class Officers Start High School Right

The class of 1984 has completed their first year of high school. These students have proved they are definitely ready for the responsibilities of being in high school. The Freshman class did a great job of beginning their high school career. They are a very spirited class and gave a lot of support to everyone at Falls Church. This class was very active and participated in the homecoming float parade. They put a lot of effort into decorating the halls for Pride Week and into organizing activities for their own benefit.

Although the students had to get to know one another, they did not waste any time electing class officers. The president of the class was Fran Maccini. Carla Ruggaree performed the duties of vice president. Carol Kramer, the treasurer, kept track of the money; while the secretary, Pam Sutphin, kept track of the class meetings. Teresa Stover was this year's cabinet officer. Along with these elected students, many other freshmen took it upon themselves to help lead the class. With this year as a beginning, the class of '84 can only get better, as they continue their education at Falls Church.

Go-cart Racing Champion Mike Cook

Imagine being one and a half inches off the ground moving at 50 m.p.h. Mike Cook knows what it feels like. This is the approximate speed he races at in his homemade gocarts. He has been racing for the past two years. Mike has the title of Virginia State Champion for 13-15 year olds, and has had this title for the past two years. He competes all over Virginia, most often at the Manassas Speedway. Mike has won about 30 trophies and hopes to be a professional race car driver.

Careening around a corner, Mike Cook pulls out in front of his competitors.

Freshman Orientation Starts Year

The week before school began in September, freshmen orientation took place. The procedures of Falls Church were explained and the freshmen were told of the types of changes to expect. These speeches were heard in the auditorium along with welcome talks by the counselors and administrators. The cheerleaders proceeded to do some cheers. This showed the new students that to be at Falls Church you had to be spirited.

After all the speeches and cheers, the students were allowed to visit their classes. They attended each class for approximately 20 minutes. The teachers met the students and talked about the courses they taught. The freshmen learned what they would have to do in each class and what they would be learning. After attending all six classes, freshmen orientation was over. The students left Falls Church that day being well oriented to the school. They had no worries about their first day of high school they would be soon attending.

Multi-faceted Freshman Swimmer

A very dedicated swimmer at Falls Church is Vanessa Richey. She has been swimming for nine years competitively. She now swims for Starlit Swim Club and Falls Church High School. In the summer she swims for Camelot, a local community club. Vanessa rises each morning in time for a 5:30 A.M. workout. After school each day she practices for two and a half more hours. Aside from swimming workouts, she lifts Nautilus equipment, runs, and does mental exercises. Vanessa competes on a regional level and has attended meets in Virginia, the District of Columbia, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Ohio and Texas. She holds several Northern Virginia Swimming League and Starlit records in the butterfly stroke and in individual medley relays. Vanessa finds swimming extremely fun and relaxing and hopes to attend the 1984 Olympics.

Preppy Styles Prevail at Falls Church Over Past Year

Clothing styles this year can be described in one word — preppy. LaCoste garments were everywhere. Whether on shirts, socks, pants, dresses or ties, there was an alligator present in every class. Cheeno's were the perfect match for the prep sweaters with yolks and three buttons at the neck. They even came in different materials — one for each season. Ties and bows were the perfect accessories. Bobby socks and saddle shoes were the perfect mate to an elegantly pleated wool skirt. Docksiders proved to be very versatile; they went with either the most ragged designer jeans or accented a lacy dress. Oxford shirts provided for beautiful layering and looked great alone or with a sweater tied at the neck. They did just the trick to let students and teachers be more comfortable while looking attractive, studious and preppy.

ARTY PARTY PARTY PAR

"Hey John, my parents are going away for the weekend!"

"Really, that's great Suzy."

"Guess what Chris, Suzy's got the house all to herself this weekend."

"Hi Cindy, Suzy is having people over this weekend."

"Guess what everybody, Suzy's having a party tonight!"

And so begins the usual gossip. Of course the last person to hear about Suzy's party is Suzy.

"Oh well, I might as well have a party, everybody is coming over anyway."

The ritual hiding of the breakables is the first job. The house must be cleaned after that, and so begins a typical Friday night party. The doorbell rings constantly as people come for their favorite pastime — partying. Nothing is more fun than socializing, meeting people and getting rowdie!

As the house fills up, the rooms get warm. Suzy wonders who all the people are. The party begins to move upstairs, the downstairs is like a sardine can. More people pile in and look for their friends. Someone spots the refrigerator. Ten guys make a mad dash as one lonesome chicken leg is spotted. A box of cookies is discovered. Five more people come. Apple pie is located and 50 people are squashed together in the kitchen trying to get a bite. The kitchen is drained of food as the police are seen driving up the road.

As the doorbell rings, the house quiets enough to hear a pin drop. Two hundred students bolt out the back door. When the door is opened the house is empty, except for one person and a lonesome cat purring at the policeman's feet.

Freshmen Begin New Experiences

For the Freshman class, Falls Church is a new and exciting experience. The idea of being in high school instead of intermediate school, sounds terrific. With it comes new responsibilities, privileges and problems. Their first encounter was with the many halls. Everything looked the same as they ran down the halls looking for the correct classrooms. The bell always seemed to ring the second before the room was entered, never after. It was hard to meet everybody. There were so many interesting people to encounter.

Being in high school meant being with the "big" kids finally and away from the "children". Finding the right people to hang around with was almost as important as how one acted. The freshmen try so hard to look just right. Most people respected and understood them. There will always be the remarks of "you're only a freshman", but that is common in any grade. There were of course those mighty seniors who couldn't resist having a little fun.

Every year some freshman falls for buying the elevator passes. This seems to be a favorite amongst the upperclassmen. Some innocent freshman each year goes on the mad search for the swimming pool on the third floor. Somehow, nobody has ever been able to locate it.

After a few weeks, the ninth graders always manage to get in the swing of things. Clubs are joined, friends are made, and high school life officially begins. The principal doesn't seem so tough anymore. The teachers become friends and the wheedling begins. Classes get cut and excuses are invented.

As the last deadline of this year approached, the editorial staff of this year's FCHS yearbook was faced with the problem of having several very blank pages remaining at the end of the book, that weren't supposed to be there. So, what was the solution to this problem? Well, we had basically two options: we could just slap a bunch of candid photos down on those blank pages, or we could do something new and creative! And so, the concept of "The Gallery" began. Although this bold, new innovation sprang from a bizarre accident, it developed into a spectacular, refreshing addition to our book.

The decision to add a new section was made with relative ease, but then a problem arose. Where was the material for this section going to come from? A photography contest! What a perfect idea. After careful planning (and a mountain of public relations work) our contest did manage to stimulate enough interest to fill those immense, blank pages. And now, with great pride, we present the winners of our contest and the results of our long hours of work.

THE GALLERY

The honorable mention photograph to the left is entitled "Learning" and was taken by Ki Lim. The photo was one in a two photograph series and was taken with a Canon AE-1. Ki, a Junior, used Tri-X Pan film and shot her photo at F8 for 1/125 of a second.

The photograph below was taken by Gary Corpuz, a Junior. Gary has entitled his photograph "School Pride/American Pride" and used a double exposure with two separate negatives for this spectacular effect. Gary took the two photos with a Pentax ME Super using Tri-X 400 film.

Senior Lisa Gillespie took the photograph below of a view of Paul Weber Stadium. Lisa won an honorable mention prize for her photographic efforts. She took the photo using a Kodak instamatic 44 and Kodak print film. The photo was originally in color but is being published in black and white. The photograph is entitled "Sunset at Falls Church High School Stadium".

The photograph above, entitled "Senior Court", was taken by Terri Rapp. Terri is a senior and she is a member of Mrs. Adams' photography class. Terri's photo was taken using Kodak Tri-X 400 black and white print film. All of the photographs on these two pages received honorable mention prizes.

It is difficult for me to adequately express all of the feelings and experiences I have had as Editor of this edition of The Jaguar. I also feel that a yearbook should speak for itself, so my comments will be brief.

The past year has provided me with an enjoyable, yet sometimes frustrating experience. Deadlines were extremely hectic and often confusing. Attempts to get the pictures we wanted were sometimes futile, and there were times when it seemed like all of our work wasn't worth it. Yet, as I look at the product of all of our dedication, I can't help but feel a great sense of accomplishment for our efforts. This feeling of accomplishment is not solely the result of my own efforts, however. This book is the product of a great deal of support that I received from the staff and many contributors.

I would like to begin by thanking the Fairfax County Planning Commission's Department of Mapping and Graphing for their help in obtaining the title page photographs. Also, I would like to thank the Main Office secretarial staff for all of the impositions they put up with; Mrs. Adams for her understanding and help with our photographic difficulties; Mrs. Oglesby's typing classes for their work on the index; Mrs. Leslie Brill for her work on the senior credits; and all of the faculty members for realizing that we would not have imposed upon them, were it not necessary. I would also like to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Jim Ellis of Hunter Publishing Company for his patience and guidance, and Dr. Wilson for allowing us the freedom we needed to be creative. I certainly owe a tremendous amount of thanks to Mrs. Anna Little for her ad selling, typing, chauffeuring, putting up with me for a week, and being so understanding. Finally, I would like to extend a special thank you to my mother and father for supporting me throughout this year of headaches and inconvenience.

In closing, let me say that I hope this book serves to provide others with the same sense of pride that I feel after having put forward ten months of hard work and energy in creating this book.

FC Expands to Meet Needs of Changing World

The area surrounding Falls Church has done a tremendous amount of growing and changing in recent years. We, as students, have seen many changes in conditions that have had a direct affect on us.

A trip to a nearby McDonalds or Roy Rogers used to be an everyday thing due to the accessibility of such places. However, students are now hindered by the gas crunch in their attempts to frequent such places. The physical appearance of the school and community have made a difference also. New buildings and an expanding economy have changed student attitudes and actions.

It's Academic

Scott Elder, Richard Powell, and Doug Chapin represented Falls Church on the January 11th "It's Academic" Show. These Students were chosen as the three best chances for obtaining a victory in the Spring of 1980. A test was given to all interested students on speed as well as intelligence. These three worked hard practicing in the months before the game and received a scholarship for participating. The game was divided into three rounds and each was composed of difficult questions. The team finished third behind McLean and Saint Anselms.

I would like to dedicate this to the Greens for your love and dedication that keeps me going. Mom and Dad, thanks for being you. Also Trisha, who is a never-ending source of inspiration. Bless you all.

Friends we've made throughout the years say they'll keep in touch, but you know they won't. Teachers, the ones who encourage and inspire us, say come back and see us, but you know we won't. Maybe someday this won't matter, but now it hurts a little. God Bless us All. "Love is Life."

An attempt was made to curtail the writing of graffiti in the bathrooms this year by repeated painting of the walls.

For the second year in a row, the Varisty football team did not play for the famous Bell (right) in their game against JEB Stuart High School. The Bell, which was originally a symbol of good sportsmanship and fair play, seems to have lost some of its meaning in recent years. Consequently, the administrations of both school are trying to play down the rivalry.

Look How We've Changed

We see many changes in four years. We meet new people; make new friends; encounter new situations. We change a great deal.

But the time has come to move on . . .

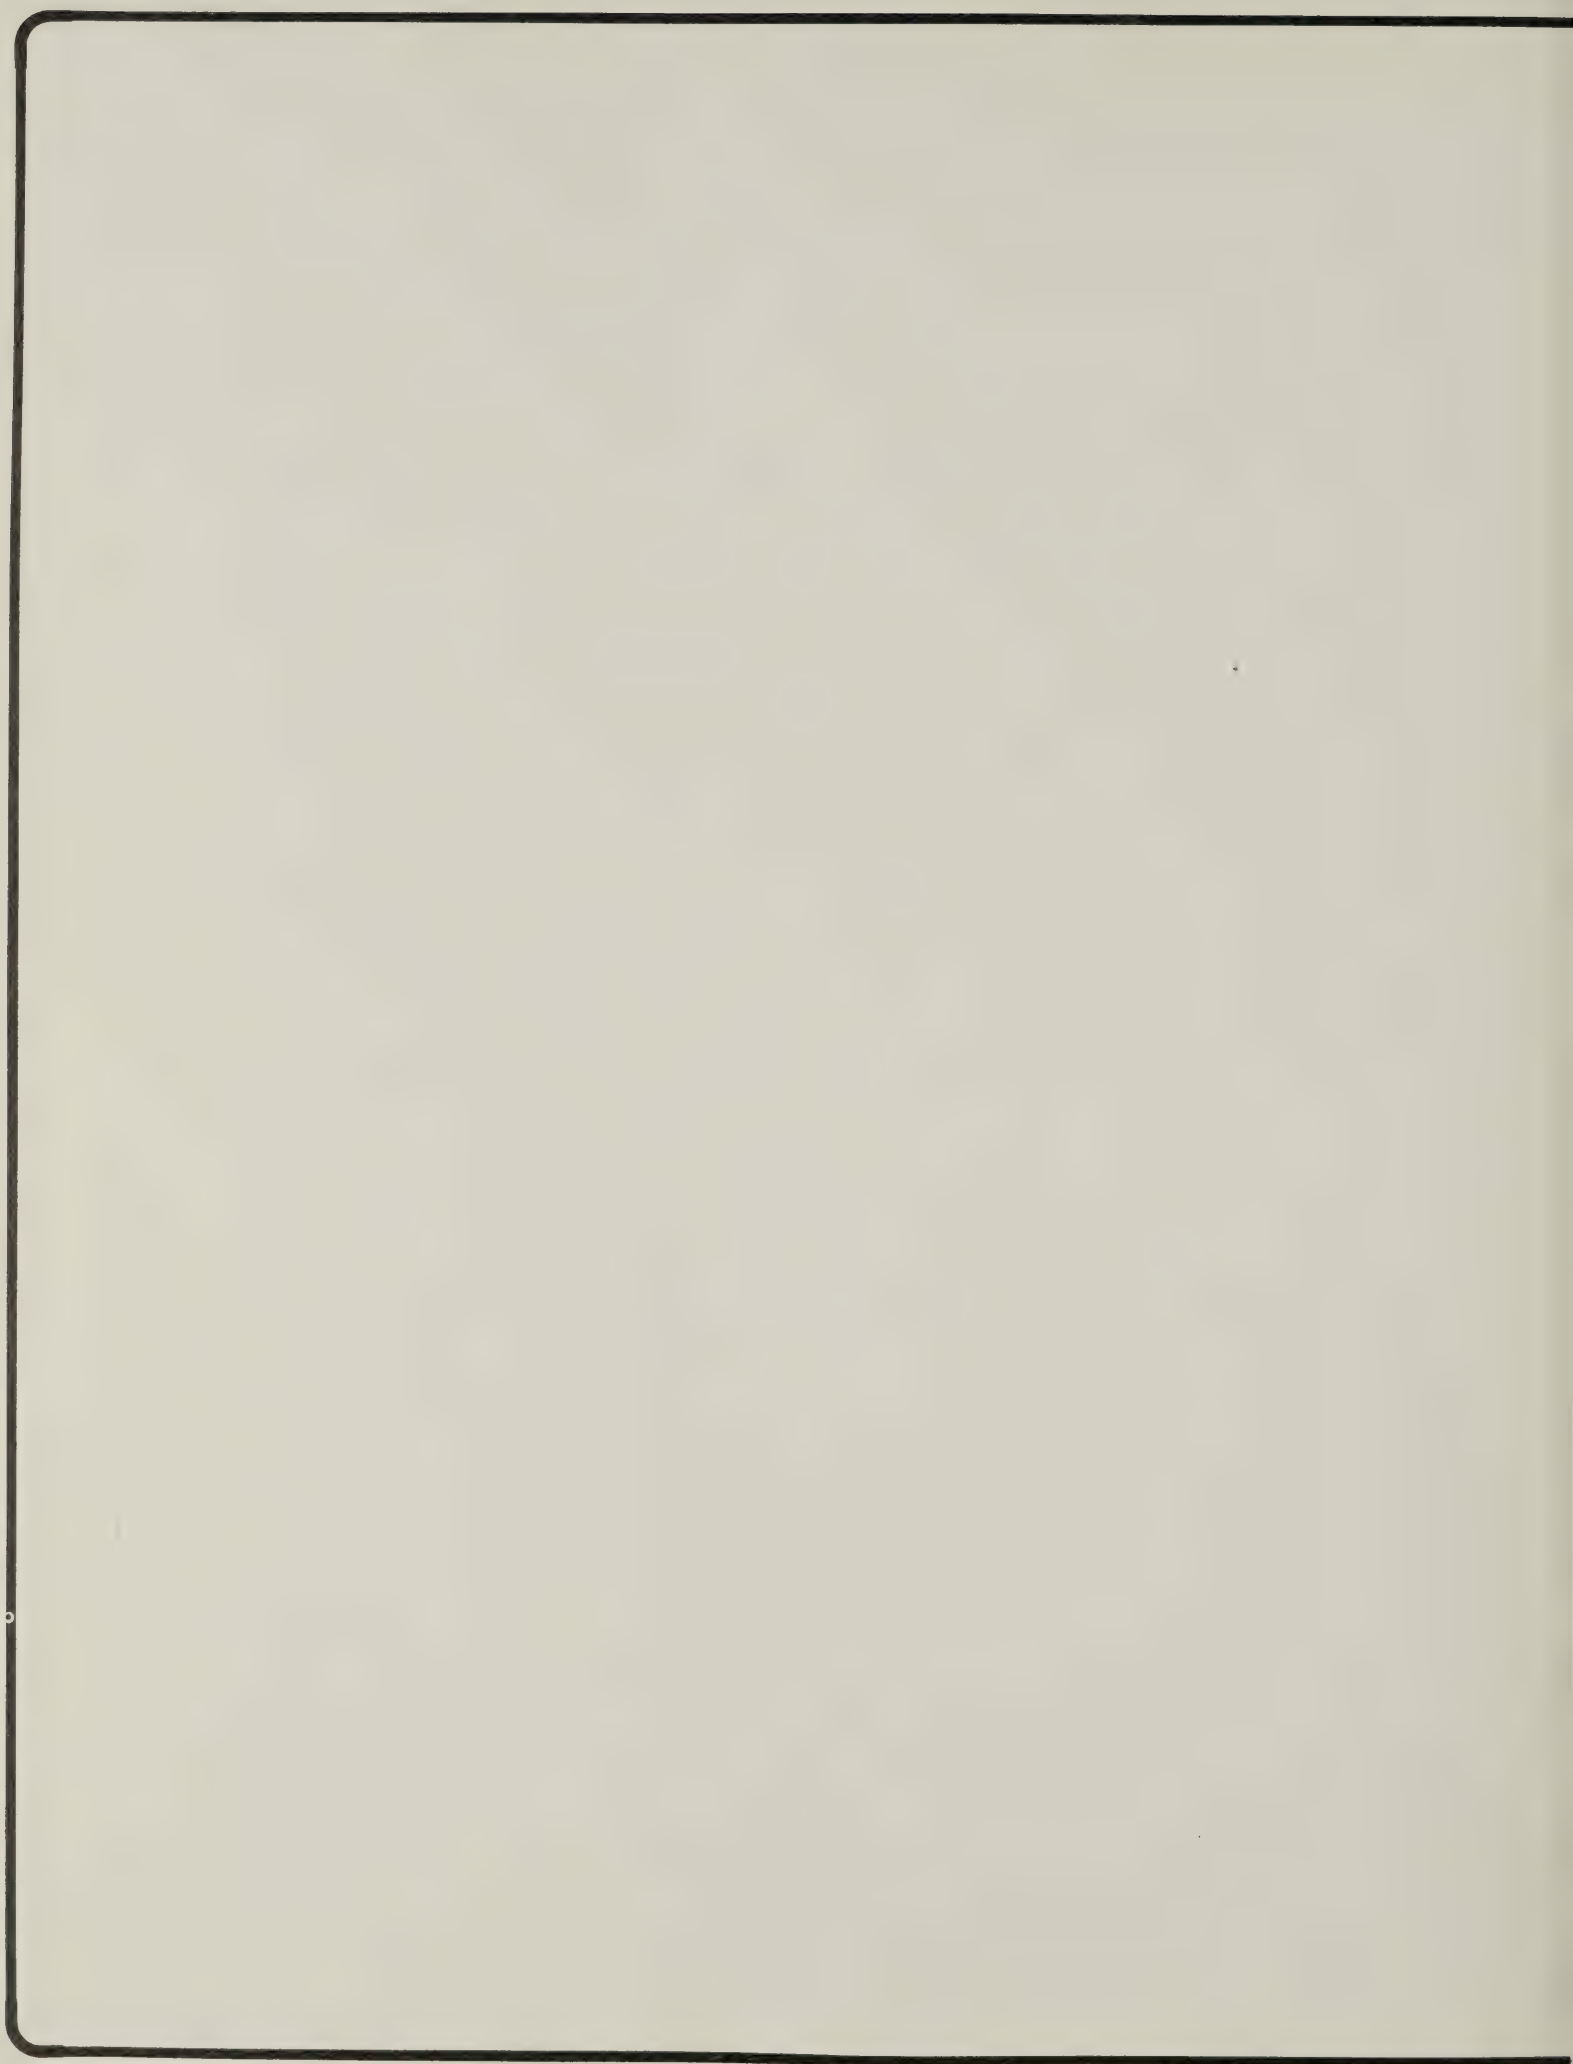

As we leave “The Home of the Jaguars” . . .

We prepare for the Changes to come.
